Unanimous vote to buy Yentile's Farm

Voters approve $1.18 Million appropriation from cash reserves

By AMANDA GELDHOF

WILMINGTON - Voters unanimously approved the purchase of Yentile's Farm at the Wilmington Annual Town Meeting last Saturday with a vote of 122 to 0.

Approval of Article 22 gives the Town permission to purchase approximately 20.3 acres of land located at 9 Cross St. known as Yentile's Farm for $1,182,500. According to the Board of Selectmen, the funds for the purchase will come from the Town's free cash account, which currently holds approximately $9 million.

"Obviously I was very pleased," Town Manager Michael Caira said. "I believe it was the most important vote of the day, and for it to be unanimous gave emphasis to the significance of this acquisition."

When the Yentile family initially sold the property at 9 Cross Street, the Town offered $2.1 million, Town Manager Caira said. The amount was approximately $1 million lower than the eventual purchase price.

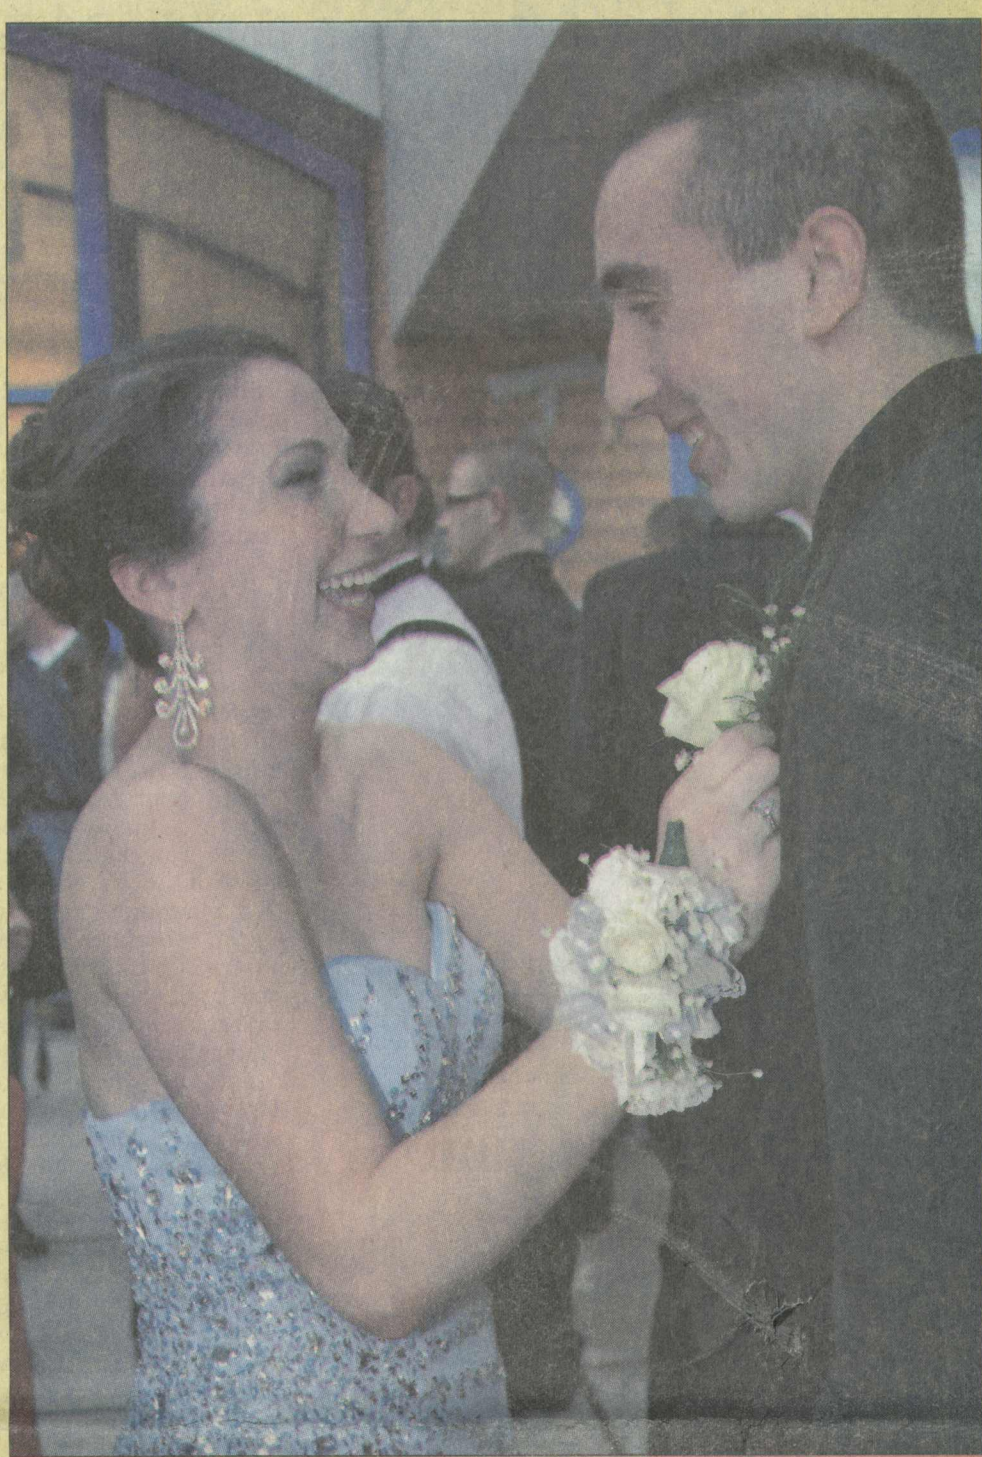

Although the warrant article outlines the purpose of the land as open space, recreation and general municipi-

Voters speak loud and clear at Town Meeting

New measure for veterans approved

By AMANDA GELDHOF

WILMINGTON - Despite the usual antics residents have come to expect at any public government meeting these days, Wilmington voters endured to make sure their opinions were heard at the Annual Town Meeting on Saturday.

The meeting ran approximately six hours and hosted a flow of 214 voters. Voters approved all warrant articles brought forth by the Board of Selectmen including many Fiscal Year 2013 budget articles, capital projects, acquisition of streets and land, and the dissolution of the Redevelopment Authority.

"The people of Wilmington did a good job getting the work of the Town done on Saturday," Selectman Michael Champoux said. "With the residents' overwhelming support, Wilmington will now be able to continue to invest wisely, operate conservatively and offer the high quality of programs and services that we expect of our local Government and Administration."

Among the capital projects approved at the meeting were new radios and police cruisers for the Police Department, a pumper for the Fire Department, a street sweeper and garage doors for the Department of Public Works.

The schools were not ignored in the approved projects. Voters approved to fund new roofing for the Wildwood School, the West Intermediate School and the Library, new energy efficient windows and doors at

Pitbull attacks dog, man injured

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - A dog attack Saturday afternoon resulted in two owners being bitten and one dog ending up at the pound.

Saturday afternoon Peter Spellman of Tewksbury was walking his dog, a Labrador retriever mix, dog on Main Street near Silver Lake when a pitbull broke her ties and attacked his dog.

The incident occurred in the vicinity of 41 Main Street. The pitbull, named Mercedes, is owned by Derek Powers of 43 Main Street and has a track record of being dog aggressive. Mercedes has had several past incidents of attacking other dogs, said Wilmington's Animal Control Officer, Ellen Sawyer. Mercedes is just three year old and is spayed.

When the men attempted to break up the dogs, both were bitten by their own dogs. Spellman was bitten in the neck or throat and was transported to a Boston hospital by ambulance.

Both dogs were taken to the veterinarian following the

Trivia back for another round

Tickets available now for June 8 event

By AMANDA GELDHOF

WILMINGTON - Wilmington Rotary is hosting its 4th Annual Trivia Challenge on Friday, June 8 and tickets are now available.

Harry Cunningham, a member of the Rotary's Board of Directors, advised residents to be prepared for a fun night with all proceeds benefiting the Wilmington Rotary Scholarship Fund Trust.

"It's a great chance for meeting new friends and catching up with old friends while raising funds for college-bound students," Cunningham said.

The event will be held at the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks Hall at 777 South Street in Tewksbury. Doors will open at 6 p.m. and the games begin at 7 p.m. There will be a cash bar and a 50/50 raffle. It is a bring-your-own-munchies event.

Teams of community members will challenge each other in a night of

Summer program aims to teach kids home cooking

Sign up through Wilmington Recreation

WILMINGTON - Do you have a budding chef in your house? If so, check out an upcoming program offered by the Wilmington Recreation Department, titled "Chefs In Training - Summer Sizzle." The class is for kids who will be entering grades 3 through 6 in the fall. Taking place the first full week after school lets out, the program will meet Monday - Friday, June 18 - 22 from 9:30 a.m. - 12 p.m. at Wilmington High School.

Teaching the course is Lori DeLiso, who has already taught a few afterschool cooking programs through Wilmington Recreation. Fourth grader Eric Lovine took a class or two, because, he says, "I thought it would be interesting to learn how to make organic food for my family."

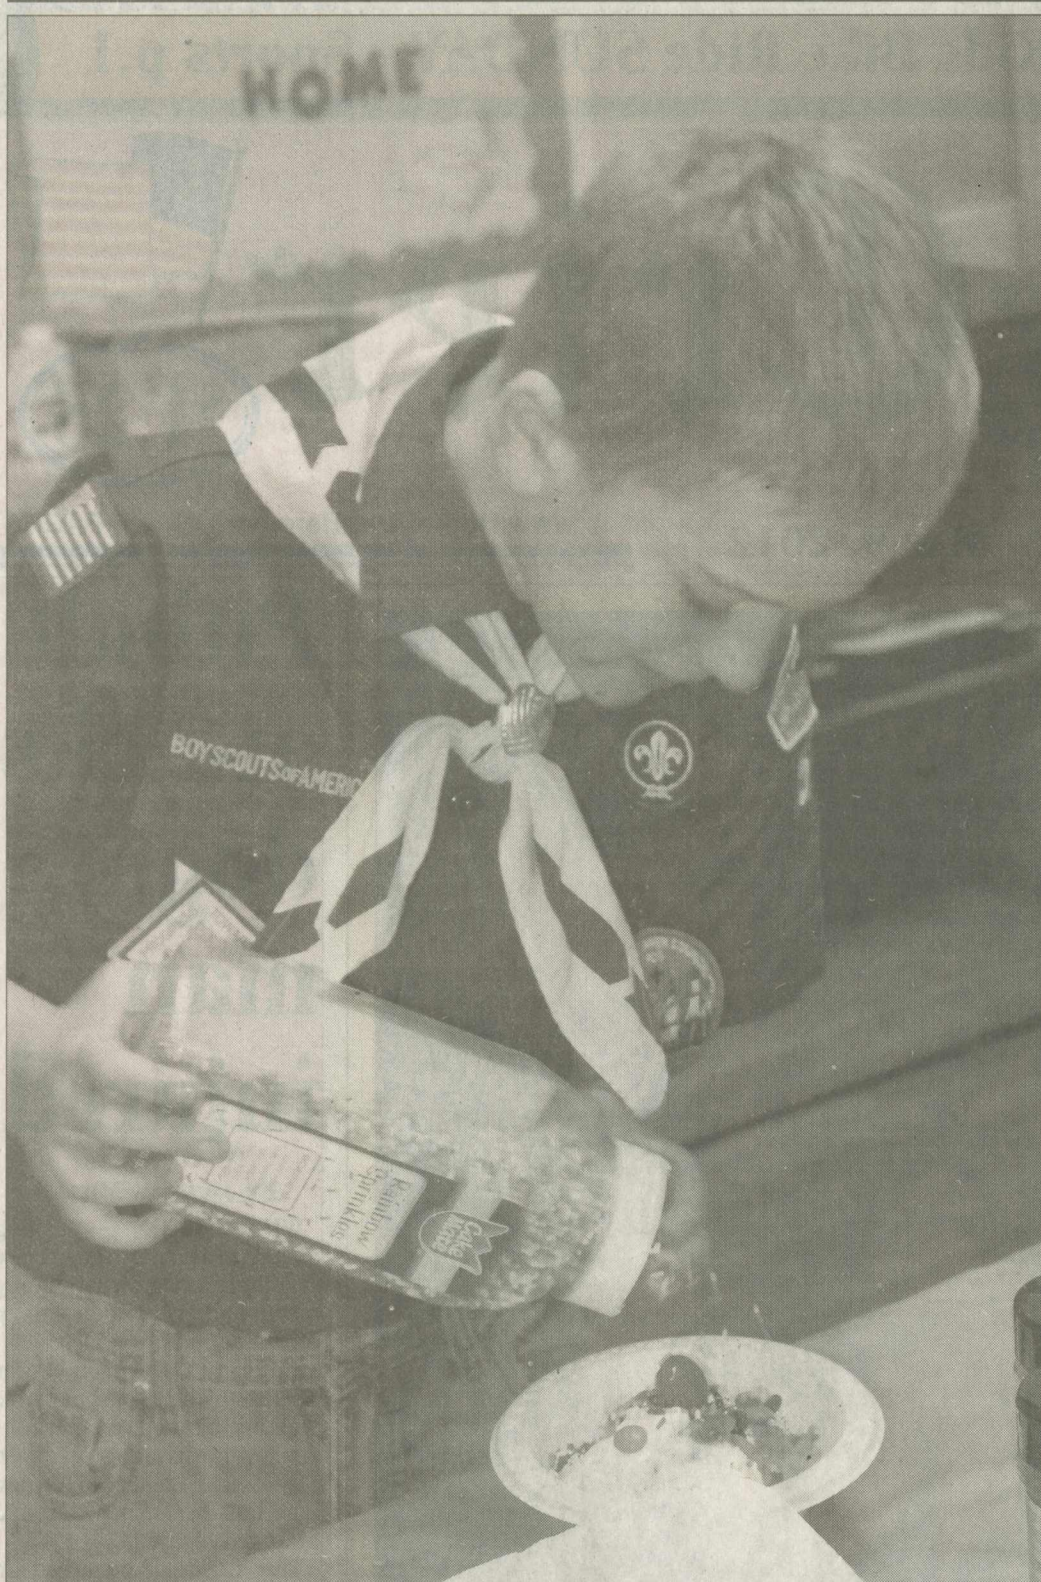

Lori, along with Liza Connolly, founded Kids Cooking Green five years ago. They met while volunteering for the Lexington

Farmers' Market, and their shared passion for food brought them together. Their Kids Cooking Green programs stress real cooking and hands-on recipes. Emphasizing the importance of local food and food as a social experience, Lori teaches that choices can impact our environment.

Asked why she teaches kids how to cook, Lori answered, "I love cooking with kids. They are fun, inquisitive and honestly, they are our future. I feel that we live in a fast-paced modern world, and we have lost sight of where our food comes from and the joy and satisfaction of cooking a great meal, and enjoying it with your family and friends. An element of my class in Wilmington will be for us all to sit down together, and share what we have created together at one big lunch table!"

Former student Charlie Burnham says he took an after-

Diva talks fashion with Tim Gunn on ABC's "The Revolution"

WILMINGTON - Diva Taunia got the call from ABC on a Friday, and on Monday morning, she was on an Acela train bound to Penn Station in New York City. As a four year post-operative weight loss surgery "success story," she was scheduled to appear on the program with Tim to talk about weight loss surgery and the need for shaping and compression garments after massive amounts of weight loss. She was there as the "before and after" model, but also was able to give some insight on how each type of shaper helped women with various issues.

Taunia says, "Everyone knows that with weight loss surgery, the weight comes off quickly and can often times leave excess skin. Many of us are unable to have reconstructive surgeries because our insurance companies consider those procedures cosmetic and elective. In my case, all of my excess weight resides in my abdomen, and shaping and compression garments not only smooth out the troubled areas, but give me a sense of pride and confidence in my body that I wouldn't otherwise have."

"When I first arrived, I was stopped in the hall by Tim Gunn, who said, 'Hello Taunia! We're going to have lots of fun today!' He was immediately friendly and welcoming, and he's just as charming as he is on TV. I was thrilled to be able to do such a lengthy segment with him on a topic that is really important in my weight loss surgery community."

Diva Taunia considers herself an advocate and activist for weight-related issues, and she also speaks openly and honestly about her own weight loss surgery journey. "It has hands-down been the best decision that I ever made for myself. I mean, look! I'm on TV with Tim Gunn talking fashion for women like me. Everything that happens these days is a direct extension of that amazing choice I made on March 25, 2008. I'll always be proud of myself for taking charge of my health and recreating an entirely new and crazy life for myself."

You can see Wilmington resident Diva Taunia on ABC's "The Revolution" on Monday, May 21. For more information, please visit her websites at www.divataunia.com and www.divatauniablog.com

Rotary Club announces 2012 scholarships

Intend to distribute $25,000

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Rotary Club announced today its intention to distribute $25,000 in scholarship money to Wilmington residents who are graduating from high school with the Class of 2012. These grants consist of one $4,000 scholarship, three $3,000 scholarships, two $2,000 scholarships and three $1,000 scholarships.

In addition, this year, three $1,000 scholarships will be awarded by the Peterson Family Scholarship Fund in memory of Claire M. Peterson and Herbert W. Peterson, Jr. A $1,000 scholarship will also be awarded by the Weiner Family in memory of Sylvia Weiner, and a $1,000 scholarship will be awarded by Jack Cushing in memory of his father, Lawrence H. Cushing, Sr. These scholarships are open to all Wilmington residents regardless of high school attended.

Over the past twenty-one years, the Wilmington Rotary Club has distributed over $435,000 in scholarship funds to Wilmington residents, and is extremely proud to continue this tradition in 2012.

Applications for these scholarships may be obtained at the Guidance Department at Wilmington High School, or by calling Robert G. Peterson, Esq. at 978-658-6886. The deadline for submitting applications for these scholarships is Friday, May 18, 2012. No late applications will be accepted.

Free Skin Analysis Offered at Relay For Life

Wilmington's Annual Family Fun Event provides new service

WILMINGTON - In addition to the usual activities and offerings, the June 15th Relay For Life of Wilmington will have another added feature this year. The American Cancer Society will provide a special service of free skin analysis when the event is held that Friday at the Shawsheen Valley Technical School.

They will use the skin analyzer machine (SAM), which is a useful educational tool for skin health and safety. The SAM has been safely used throughout the US for years. While the machine doesn't actually screen for cancer, it does show sun damage to the skin. This in turn raises awareness about sun safety. It gives people a visual understanding of their skin that they cannot see with the naked eye. Light from the machine highlights underlying skin damage. Based on this, people have more information to make decisions about sun protection and skin cancer screening.

Since the Relay For Life is open to the public on Friday evening, everyone is invited to come by and take advantage of this American Cancer Society skin analysis service. Again, this year's event is on Friday, June 15, at 5:30 pm at Shawsheen Valley Technical School.

Activities and entertainment are held throughout the evening. In addition to ceremonies, there's kick ball, face painting, salsa lessons, and much more. An entire Relay Fun Zone provides children's activities and has become a central highlight of the Wilmington event. All who participate enjoy great music, food, fun and camaraderie.

The Relay itself will be an overnight event. It provides people with an opportunity to come together and share in the message of hope. Teams of people will camp out at the high school and take turns walking around the track. Each team is asked to have a representative on the track at all times during the event because cancer never sleeps. Teams are raising funds in a variety of ways. They get on-line donations, hold bake sales, have drawings, host fitness events, and any other thing they can think of to fight back against cancer.

For more information or to make a donation, visit www.wilmingtonrfl.com or contact Ashlee.Iber@cancer.org or (781) 314-2652.

Unsung Heroines of 2012 to be honored at State House

BOSTON - The Massachusetts Commission on the Status of Women proudly announces its 2012 class of Unsung Heroines. These women hail from cities and towns across the Commonwealth and each will be recognized for their outstanding contributions to their communities or organizations which they serve. Wilmington's Holly Walton is one of those Unsung Heroines who will be honored at a ceremony on Wednesday, May 16, 2012 from 1:00 - 4:00 p.m., in the Great Hall at the State House in Boston. Unsung Heroines, who were identified by the Commission working in partnership with state legislators, are extraordinary women whose work is deserving of recognition and praise.

The Unsung Heroines are women who don't make the news, but make the difference. They are the women who use their time, talent and enthusiasm to enrich the lives of others and make a difference in their neighborhoods, cities and towns. They are mentors, volunteers and innovators who do what needs to be done without expectations of recognition or gratitude. These women are the glue that keeps a community together and every community has them.

The ceremony will include a program emceed by NewsCenter 5's Liz Brunner acknowledging each of the 2012 Unsung Heroines followed by a group photograph on the Grand Staircase and a Just Desserts reception.

Attached is a list of this year's honorees, listed alphabetically by town.

Honorees will be featured in an event program available to all in attendance. For more information please visit www.mass.gov/women or contact the MCSW at 617-626-6520 or mcsw@state.ma.us.

This event is made possible with the support of the following community sponsors:

Advocates: Tufts Health Plan, Verizon. Friends: MetroWest Athena, NSTAR.

The commission's annual Unsung Heroine initiative is underwritten by these private sponsors and the MCSW Trust Fund and no tax dollars are used to fund this event.

The Massachusetts Commission on the Status of Women is an independent state agency that was legislatively created in 1998 to advance women of the Commonwealth to full equality in all areas of life and to promote their rights and opportunities. The MCSW provides a permanent, effective voice for the women of Massachusetts.

trivia and fun. The evening will consist of three rounds of 25 questions. Each team will give written answers on provided score sheets. Sheets will be tallied at the end of each round. Don't worry, the top 10 teams will be posted after each round so you will know where your team stands before you begin the next set of questions.

To enter the event, gather a team of four friends and purchase a table. Bring your thinking caps because the grand prize will be awarded for a team's overall performance.

"Top prize is bragging rights for the entire Town of Wilmington," Cunningham said with a smile. "Oh, and a trophy."

Space is limited and time is running out. For tickets or more information, contact Harry Cunningham at 978-657-7633.

SOCIAL SECURITY CHANGES

The good news is that Social Security benefits have risen 3.6 percent, the first cost-of-living adjustment since 2009, and more than enough to pay increases in Medicare premiums for most beneficiaries. The not-so-good news for some is that the wage base for paying Social Security taxes has risen to $110,100.

Older Americans who continue to work will be able to earn more before having to give up benefits. For Social Security beneficiaries 62 to 66, the earnings cap is now $14,640. They must give up $1 in benefits for every $2 they earn over that. Those who turn 66 this year can earn up to $38,880 before their birthday without losing and benefits. Over 66, there is no earning limit.

The amount needed to qualify for Social Security coverage has risen to $1,130 a quarter; earning $4,520 anytime this year will net full coverage. More: there is a $100 increase in the nanny-tax threshold, up to $1,800 a year.

We keep up with the latest tax-and-finance news so you don't have to. You can depend on our help at

Letters to the editor

Leave Bake Sales alone

An Open Letter to Wilmington Residents:

As a Wilmington resident, constituent, public educator and parent, I implore you to contact Representative James Miceli and Senator Bruce Tarr and ask them to revisit the Massachusetts' New School Nutrition Law (http://www.mphaweb.org/documents/SNStandardspresentation_000.pdf) and its negative impact on school-based/sponsored fundraising initiatives that surround the sale of so-called "competitive" foods. While this law has all the intentions of combating obesity (which even the Surgeon General's warning on tobacco products has never accomplished for deterring smoking), this law specifically targets the very groups found at the bottom rung of the fiscal ladder: public school classrooms, activities clubs, and student athletics.

Indeed, I feel lucky to live in Wilmington, where we have continued to escape mandatory user fees for athletics, clubs and bus transportation, and we even maintain trash removal services without incurring extra costs. Our town pride is evident in our many celebrations for and recognition of local achievements.

As a teacher in a neighboring community, I am fully aware of how classroom supplies, materials for lesson extensions or funds for enriching field trips are often scarce, the burden of which would be passed on to parents. As the economic downturn emerged and families struggled with unemployment, schools could no longer rely on parents to fill these gaps. The traditional bake or candy sale has often provided the necessary funds where budget line items fall short, maintaining a student's continuance in an activity or club or inclusion in a class trip.

I have personally supported bake sales for Wilmington athletics, instrumental music programs, Haitian relief, Joplin, MO relief, The Jimmy Fund and breast cancer research. In essence, that cupcake or candy bar or concession-stand hot dog provides much more than the nutritional label attached to it. Student/parent-run bake sales, banquets, and athletic concessions sales enrich the overall school experience and promote ties among the school, the family and the community at large.

Historically, our government has never been successful in legislating morality to control human behavior (Prohibition comes to mind). While the Department of Public Health's cause is noble, and the very real issue of obesity is one of concern to the healthcare industry, the aforementioned law will do little to combat the problems. If legislators want to initiate bills, consider broadening counseling and nutrition services through health insurance carriers that substantially expand coverage for a variety of weight loss and wellness programs. Consider programs for recognizing food addiction that target those individuals most at-risk. Please do NOT support sweeping reforms that eliminate personal responsibilities and restrict freedom of choice, which in the end may do more harm than good for Massachusetts' students.

Sincerely,
Susan Rogers

Marchese misstep

Dear Editor,

It's nice to see candidates for office that win thank there supports for their hard work during their campaign and the support they received from the voters for their victory.

This is very professional and I applaud them. But it's even more satisfying to see the candidate that loses thank their supporters, the winners and offers their support,

I applaud them.

But this is not a time to take shots at another elected official as Mario Marchese did in his letter to the editor dated May 2, 2012. As he stated you have not seen the last of me. This is one voter that hopes we have seen the last of him, The town of Wilmington does not need a poor loser.

Acts of Kindness

by Jomarie O'Mahony

This one's for the girls

If I ran the world, May would be the international month to celebrate women. I understand that this may not be popular with about 50% of the readers, but let me at least plead my case.

May is the month that houses Mother's Day in most parts of the world. It is also the month in the Roman Catholic Church that celebrates the Blessed Virgin Mary. In the United Kingdom, May is National Smile Month and in the United States it is "Older Persons" month (thank you, President Kennedy).

My original intent for this month was to tell you all of the great ways to celebrate your mother and the mother figures in your life. But, then I realized that I have many women in my life who are mothers or mother figures who should all be revered whether or not they are biologically considered a mother, and celebrating them is so subjective, I could come up with 100 ways and still not have the right idea for everyone!

To a very special woman who is in the process of adopting young children to give them a forever home filled with love, thank you for showing that unconditional love exists in everyone's heart!

To the woman who lost her husband to ALS (it is also ALS Awareness Month in the United States), thank you for continuing to live your life with a beautiful smile (even when it is not May). You continue to inspire many with your quiet grace.

To the woman who lost her husband to a brain tumor and the woman who survived her own brain tumor (May is also Brain Tumor Awareness Month), thank you for showing others what strength and courage in the face of adversity looks like.

To the woman whose life was tragically cut short but who left behind a husband, son and legacy to continue to inspire an entire community, thank you for reminding us to "be nice".

To all of the women who spend every day being examples to others, helping where they can and trying to make this world better one act of kindness at a time, I thank you for inspiring me.

To all of you women who take care of everything- all day- every day- and still find time to run marathons, volunteer at school, get the shopping done, get to the field to catch the game, help with the school projects, fold the laundry, steal a kiss and hug and whisper hopes and dreams into your children's hearts, thank you for caring and loving and showing our next generation how it is done!

So, my task for you this month is simple. Take a few moments and think of all of the women in your life that have left even the tiniest of fingerprints on your soul, and thank them, celebrate them and love them.

Maybe June we should celebrate the boys?

Betsy's Best Bets

Hail Snail Mail

Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night, stays these curriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds.

(Unofficial motto of the U.S. Post Office.)

Do you think there is anyone, no matter how young or hip, who doesn't love to get something personal in the U.S. Mail? Or maybe the mailbox is going the route of the so-called land-line. Geez, could there actually be robots, I mean humans, who don't require a mailbox anymore? Say it isn't so!

A recent Boston Globe story about an everyday family of four, that was so "connected" it was costing them over $400 a month for all of their screen-time gadgets, left me glazed over. When I snapped out of it, I ran to the Post Office for stamps. There's a good chance I'll be phased out - left in the dust clinging to my pencils, pens, writing paper, note cards, and stamps, along with my 1942 Royal manual typewriter, mailbox and land-line.

I'm not a stamp collector, meaning I don't have a large documented collection of stamps, but I love stamps. At the Post Office I stand to the side and wait until there's no line so I can take my time and look through all the different stamps. I keep an eye out for stories of new stamps and their date of issue. For many years I have looked for interesting stamps, mostly famous people in the arts and entertainment field as well as history and politics. This gives me the opportunity to express myself just by the simple act of sticking so-and-so on the outside of the envelope. But I like to take it a step further. Anticipating the Richard Nixon stamp was probably the most excited I ever got about a stamp. That year when I sent my tax return to the IRS, I pressed the Nixon stamp down with relish - then clearly printed, "I AM NOT A CROOK," with an arrow pointing to the stamp. After picking myself up off the floor in a convulsion of laughter, I hand delivered the envelope to the Post Office to make sure it got where it was going. I showed it to my favorite postal clerk (who will remain anonymous) before dropping it into the slot. The rest of my Nixon stamps were used on various correspondence and bills. On every one of them I wrote: Would you buy a used car from this man? I can't tell you what a kick I got out of my little inside jokes.

Last month the Post Office issued a sheet of new stamps - Twentieth Century Poets. What a perfect small gift for friends who read, enjoy poetry or for those who don't but might after reading the short excerpts on the back. When the Elvis stamp was issued, I stood in a long line with other Elvis fans chatting about the King of Rock & Roll. I bought Elvis stamps for everyone on my Christmas list that year. Depending on the man (ahem), I would write under an Elvis stamp: One Night With You (the #1 best Elvis song ever).

Here are some of the stamps I couldn't wait to get my hands on, and what I wrote under them. Bette Davis: Those eyes, Oh those eyes. Andy Warhol: 15-minutes of fame. Fenway Park: Believe. Tennessee Williams: I have always depended on the kindness of strangers. Malcolm X: Stumbling is not falling. Edgar Allan Poe: All is but a dream. Cesar Chavez: Justice. Had enough? One more - the best of them all, Humphrey Bogart. I would sometimes write: whistle if you want me, consider yourself kissed, and here's looking at you kid. Just one more, I swear this is it. When the Alfred Hitchcock stamp came out I jumped up and down. I couldn't wait to write his best line alongside every stamp: My cure for a sore throat, slit it. When I think of all the eyes that will read what I wrote as these mini-manifestos travel across the land, well I have to admit to feeling pretty smirky.

But a long-lost friend of mine, who worked the night shift at the Post Office for many years, turned the tables on me. What are the odds, here she is buried in mountains of mail, overhead conveyors, machinery and technology filtering and channeling hills and heaps and piles of paper tonnage. Out of nowhere, up pops my name and address right before her eyes. She grabs the envelope, writes on the back: Long time no see, how are you these days? Then she signed her initials.

As you can see, I could go on and on. I have quite a few stamps, having saved one or two of each favorite. Some day I'll get around to doing something artistic with them - maybe a collage under glass or decoupage.

Post cards can be the most fun though. Almost every book store has post cards and lots of places have vacation and tourist-type post cards, but for what I'm looking for, Porter Square Books in Cambridge and Norma Glamp's in Provincetown have the absolute best selection and variety of regional, political and my-sense-of-humor hilarious post cards. I send post cards all the time for all kinds of reasons, to everyone, close-by and far-off. Depending on the picture the message can say nothing more than this card made me think of you. That might sound dull but if you saw the picture, you'd think differently. There was one particular post card I loved so much I bought ten. I wish I could describe it here but it goes over the line of "printable." So all I can tell you is, it's a real photo, a candid shot of a very respectable-looking elderly woman who is wearing a political pin that is priceless. I had to mail it in an envelope, being sure it could not clear the censors.

Several of my friends send post cards, too. It's such a unique way of communicating with each other in a time when staying in touch is so impersonal and splintered. Wouldn't it be wonderful if sending post cards became contagious? I'm already stocked up - I have post card "books" of Edward Hopper and Edward Gorey (the poignant to the macabre), and a cigar box of Che Guevara post cards for just the right person at the right moment, and some poets, and famous actors from the golden age of Hollywood - and a lot more. And for anyone complaining of the price of a stamp, all I can say is, jump in your car and drive that mail to the West Coast. Or, better yet, next time you hit "send" or "submit" take a look at your cable bill.

For over two centuries the U.S. Post Office has served us well. To downsize or privatize would be a heartless loss of Americana. What about our history and quality of life? Steve Hutkins (an associate professor of literature at the Gallatin School at New York University and editor of the blog "Save the Post Office") referred to the so-called crisis we're witnessing as a manufactured emergency, and suggested that the main forces behind this agenda are the anti-government, anti-union corporate elite. Furthermore, he says that advocates of the push to downsize are stakeholders in the bulk mail industry and package delivery business who stand to gain a bigger piece of the mail industry pie. As Hutkins warns, "Wake up America - they're coming for the Post Office."

Calling all musicians

WILMINGTON - Would you be willing to volunteer some time on a Sunday this summer? The Wilmington Farmers Market is looking for entertainment during market days, and we could really use your help.

We are in a residential neighborhood, we don't have access to electrical power, and we can't pay you in money, but we can pay you in gratitude and you are also welcome to "pass the hat."

If you are interested in enhancing the farmers market experience for your friends, family, and neighbors, please e-mail info@wilmingtonfarmersmarket.com. Thank you in advance!

Finegold to host second annual Listening Forum

TEWKSBURY - Senator Barry Finegold will be hosting his second annual Tewksbury Listening Forum on Wednesday, May 16 at 6:00 p.m. at the Tewksbury Public Library. This informal, question-and-answer session will give constituents the opportunity to voice their ideas and issues.

"Being accessible to my constituents is very important to me because being readily available and proactive helps me better serve the town," Finegold said. "I look forward to hearing residents' ideas and concerns;

no problem is too small."

There will not be a planned speaking program but rather a casual atmosphere where local residents can be heard and helped.

State and local officials will also be in attendance.

Your Two Cents...

Strings Attached!

Thumbs up to the Strings Attached group. What an awesome concert Thursday night and the finale was top notch! A little bittersweet as my son played his final concert at WHS but still have two teenagers to go in the program. With all of them starting from 4th grade on, it's such a wonderful program and all of our young strings students take it very seriously and personally. Mr. D. you're the best as a mentor and friend to these teens, keep up all the great work all! Thanks for a very enjoyable evening.

Marchese's letter

Mario, you couldn't even write a simple thank you letter without taking a shot at someone? Pathetic.

Letter to the editor

Spite-fence bylaw needed

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank those residents in attendance at the May 5, 2012 town meeting who voted in favor of my proposed fencing bylaw. I would especially like to thank the six (6) residents who stood up after I doubted the initial voice vote so as to allow me a more accurate sense of how much support my article actually had by counting the votes. I regret not having better articulated my case for such a bylaw and wish I had done a better job of defending/explaining the language in my bylaw against what I believe to have been unfounded concerns raised by a few residents. I continue to believe that such a bylaw is needed. My intention was to protect not only my own family, but all residents of the town from having a "spite fence" or a structurally unsound and dangerous fence erected at an adjacent property. Additionally, due to the increasing number of bank foreclosures, my bylaw would also have helped to protect residents who reside next to bank owned abandoned properties, which have been allowed to fall into disrepair.

It was interesting to me that Mario Marchese presented the most vehement objection to my bylaw.

Mario's father-in-law is the owner of the 200 feet of plywood fencing currently coming apart along my western property boundary (as documented by photographic evidence provided at town meeting) and the 350 feet of unsightly blue tarp fencing surrounding my property to the east and south. I believe it to be a positive step forward that Mario is no longer an elected representative of the Town of Wilmington.

Personally, I believe it's sad that Wilmington regulates fencing around cell phone towers against the construction of unsuitable and/or dangerous fencing but not around residential properties. In my opinion both the Town Manager and the Board of Selectmen should be embarrassed by that fact. I also believe the residents of the Town of Wilmington should question this lack of leadership!

Because of the positive support I received from several other residents, I plan to continue pressing this issue. Though my proposed bylaw did not pass, I continue to believe that a fencing bylaw is needed to protect the residents of Wilmington from irresponsible and spiteful neighbors.

Respectfully,
George Lingenfelter

Run for Wilmington Thanks

Dear Editor,

I wanted to take a moment to thank everyone who helped make last Sunday's 2nd annual Run for Wilmington and Kim Forte Walk such a success!

First, a huge thank you to our Vice President and Race Director, Michelle Bryan, for organizing another incredible event. Her leadership and motivation made the race the success it clearly was.

Special thanks to the entire WOW board for all of their help with a special thanks to Becky McGrath for her beautiful work on our t-shirts and race program and Tricia Lambert for spearheading the sponsorships for us. To all of the WOW members who volunteered and came out to walk and run, a huge thank you for making our organization what it is. Together, we will continue to strengthen our community, one act of kindness at a time!

To the members of the community and to participants who came from other communities to participate in this year's race, thank you for all of your support. It was so wonderful to see so many families running together and the number of children who decided to participate in this event was so great to see!

To all of our race sponsors, thank you for supporting our organization and our community. Your generosity is so very much appreciated. A special thanks to the Wilmington Police Department for keeping us safe, Wilmington Farmers Market and Wilmington Community Fund for race day nourishment, CVS and Lucci's for their water donations, Mobil on the Run Dunkin Donuts for their coffee donation, Live Life for getting us warmed up, TJ Maxx for their exciting Kids' Zone and Doug White from White's Physical Therapy for managing our medical tent.

Finally, we want to thank Lou and Tim Forte and all of the family and friends of Kim. Thank you for allowing us to participate in the continuation of her legacy. We carry with us every day the importance of being kind and hope that our work reflects her life in some small way.

The Women of Wilmington continue to look for opportunities to support our community and the funds raised from this race will be used for multiple scholarships to the Wilmington High School and Shawsheen Tech and will also be used to support our ongoing initiatives in town.

For more information on WOW, please visit us at www.womenofwilmington.org.

Thank you Wilmington for once again demonstrating just what an unbelievable community we have!

Sincerely,

Jomarie O'Mahony
WOW President

Strings Attached says Thanks to local businesses

Dear Editor, "Strings Attached" wants to say "THANK YOU" to LOCAL BUSINESSES who continue to support this program. Special Thanks to "Performance Music Center of Woburn, donating a full size violin and Keurig Coffee of Reading for their donation of an Elite Coffee Maker and coffee as these were separate raffles. We would like to thank the following Wilmington businesses for their donated items and gift certificates: Royal Dynasty, Mobil on the Run, Flaherty Jeweler, Bella Terrazzo, Yoga Loft and Chili's Restaurant of Wilmington. Also thank you, to Designs by Don, Hair Xtreme, Michael's Place, Anytime Fitness, and King Triton Car Wash. These donated items were part of 2 gift baskets that were raffled at the 25th Annual "Strings Attached" Year End Concert which was held Thursday, May 3rd at the Wilmington High School gymnasium. Thank you so much for your support, as always, OUR LOCAL BUSINESSES are there to help! We would like to congratulate Mr. Dilmore and Ms. Pesce for a wonderful concert performed by over 440 children. Our best wishes to the 24 seniors who participate in their final performance with Strings Attached.

Thank you,
Strings Attached
Parent Support
Wilmington, MA

Thank you Mrs. Hastings!

Dear Editor,

Mrs. Virginia Hastings, a teacher at the Brookside Nursery School, will be retiring after 45 years of teaching at Brookside. Mrs. Hastings started her work at Brookside when it was a private kindergarten in 1967. Her time here expands over the past 45 years and what a wonderful 45 years it has been.

Mrs. Hastings has worked side by side with three different owners and many wonderful teachers. She started her career with the first owner of Brookside, Ruth McCabe. At this time there was no public kindergarten and Brookside offered a school opportunity for many children of Wilmington. She worked alongside Mrs. Sue Aalerud and Mrs. Joan Foster. Mrs. Hastings was fortunate to be able to have all her four children, Lynne, Laurie, Gary and Leigh, attend Brookside. Gary and Leigh along with three of her grandchildren, Kyle, Jackson and Allison were all fortunate to attend Brookside under Mrs. Hastings guiding hand.

In 1976, with the start of public kindergarten, Brookside turned into a private preschool. At this time Ruth McCabe retired and sold Brookside to Mari Carmen de Garavilla. Over the next 20 years Brookside Nursery School continued to create a warm and caring environment that welcomed many students. Mrs. D., as she was known, felt fortunate to have been able to retain Mrs. Hastings and Mrs. Foster for many years to keep the reputation of Brookside strong and growing. When Mrs. Foster retired, Mrs. Hastings had the opportunity to work alongside Mrs. Brenda DiPasquale and Mrs. Judy Austin.

In 1995 after my mother, Mrs. D., retired I, Cristina Warren, took over Brookside. I was very fortunate to retain Ginny Hastings as my lead teacher. Mrs. Hastings has shown me a loyalty that has helped me during the next 17 years at Brookside. I, along with Ginny Hastings, also feel fortunate to have worked with so many wonderful teachers over the past 17 years. Mrs. Bonnie Murphy is a treasure that I am so grateful to have found. Mrs. Paula Coughlin and Mrs. Sharon DiFiore also worked with us all the time contributing their own love, dedication and sheer joy to Brookside. I feel very lucky to know such wonderful and caring women.

The teachers at Brookside have become like a family and every teacher, child, and parent that has passed the school doors have helped add to the reputation that Brookside has today.

There will be an Open House at Brookside on Saturday, June 9, 2012 from 12:00 - 4:00. We would like to invite any present or past students, parents, families and friends to stop by and wish Mrs. Hastings good luck and best wishes. There will be a scrap book of memories and we ask that people will share a story, picture or memory for Mrs. Hastings to take with her as a keepsake of her years at Brookside.

Thank you,
Cristina Warren

Nelson family thanks supporters

Dear Yes Voters for Articles 37 & 38,

The Nelson Family would like to thank you for the votes we received on Saturday at Town Meeting.

We are truly grateful, especially to those town employees who stood and voted to support a family attempting to provide affordable housing for ourselves, by ourselves. It was overwhelming to see All 5 Board of Selectman members and their families and supporters stand and vote no, the Town Manager, the Moderator, 2 Finance Committee members, 4 Planning Board Members, and even Tina at the Library.

If Town Hall sat rather than stand, the Article would have passed by the 2/3rds needed, my family would have a building permit in our hand today and be thrilled to be starting a new home. Now we are faced with more litigation.

The Moderator called Mark, Mr. MacDonald and laughed just after Mr. MacDonald was escorted out of the meeting for the second year in a row. The Planning Board presented a deficient "Report" read into the record that was not signed, dated and without a legal quorum when voted on February 28, 2012 at the Planning Board meeting. There is pending litigation in the Land Court filed in 2001 where the Planning Board sued Mark Nelson and the Town Board of Appeals. The Town has sued itself over these properties. Passing the 2 Articles petitioned would have ended ongoing, costly, time-wasting litigation. Now there is no end in sight.

Best regards,
The Nelson Family

Kristen Tenaglia receives nurse's pin at ceremony

MANCHESTER, NH -- Kristen Tenaglia of Tewksbury, a senior nursing major at Saint Anselm College, received a Saint Anselm College nurse's pin at the 2012 pinning ceremony in the Abbey Church on April 28.

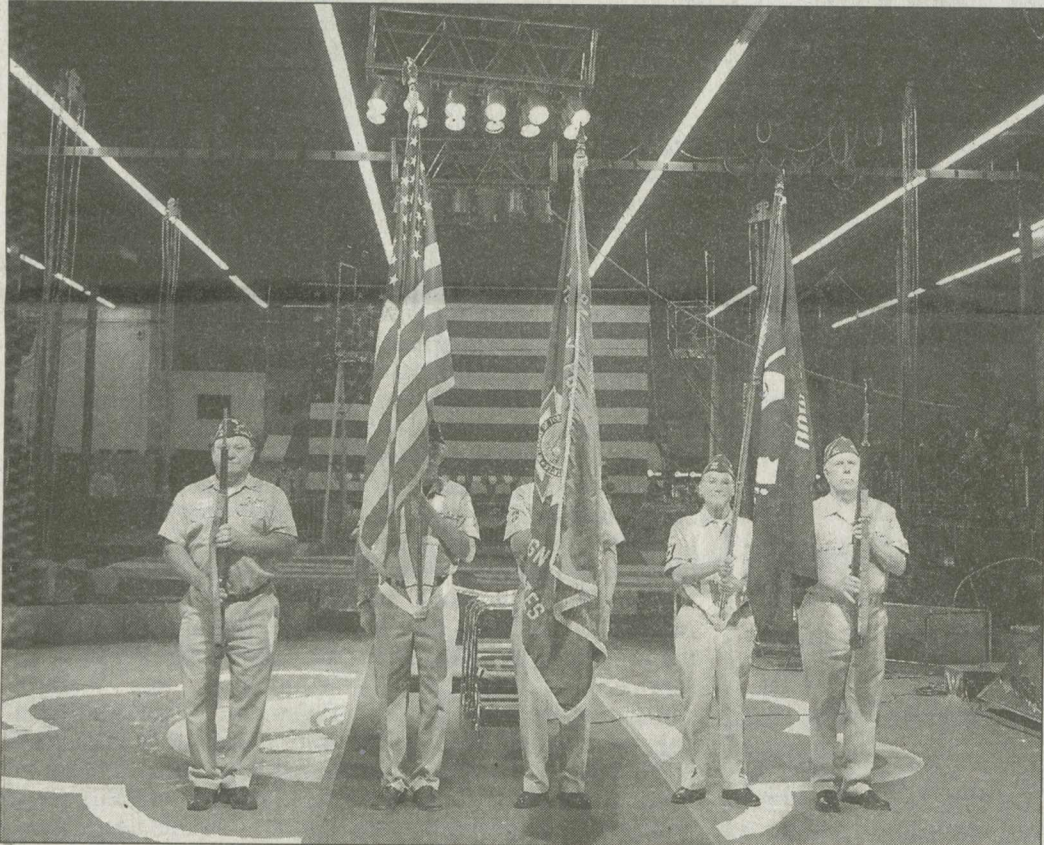

It was a special day for Tenaglia, who received a pin featuring elements of the college's official seal and the symbol of a lamp referring to Psalm 119:105, "Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light for my path." Dr. Sharon George, dean of nursing, pinned her with the Saint Anselm pin to wear for the entirety of her career.

The pinning ceremony is a celebration of a student's completion of Saint Anselm

College's respected nursing program and symbolizes preparedness to serve as a compassionate caregiver in the healthcare setting.

Tenaglia will receive a Bachelor of Science in Nursing on May 19 at Saint Anselm College's commencement ceremonies.

Waring completes research project in London

WORCESTER - Lauren Waring of Wilmington, a junior majoring in Environmental Engineering at Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI), recently completed an intensive, applied research project in London for D-Term. The project was titled Evaluating Hand-held Digital Media at the Tower of London.

At WPI, all undergraduates are required to complete a research-driven, professional-level project that addresses a problem at the intersection of science, technology, social issues, and human needs. About 50 percent of WPI students complete this project at one of the university's 26 off-campus project centers, which are located around the world. A signature element of the innovative undergraduate experience at WPI, the project-based curriculum offers students the opportunity to apply their scientific and technical knowledge to develop thoughtful solutions to real problems that affect the quality of people's lives and make a difference before they graduate.

"The WPI project-based curriculum brings students out of the classroom and their comfort zones and into the global community to apply their knowledge to solve real problems," said Professor Richard Vaz, dean of WPI's Interdisciplinary and Global Studies Division. "Students are immersed in all aspects of a different culture, from the way people live and work to the values they hold to the foods they eat—all valuable perspectives for surviving and thriving in today's global marketplace. They also learn the meaning and power of teamwork; make a real and meaningful difference in their host community; and gain a competitive edge for any résumé, or graduate or professional school application."

Founded in 1865 in Worcester, Massachusetts, WPI was one of the nation's first engineering and technology universities. Its 14 academic departments offer more than 50 undergraduate and graduate degree programs in science, engineering, technology, business, the social sciences, and the humanities and arts, leading to bachelor's, master's and PhD degrees. WPI's world-class faculty work with students in a number of cutting-edge research areas, leading to breakthroughs and innovations in such fields as biotechnology, fuel cells, information security, materials processing, and nanotechnology. Students also have the opportunity to make a difference to communities and organizations around the world through the university's innovative Global Perspective Program. There are more than 25 WPI project centers throughout North America and Central America, Africa, Australia, Asia, and Europe.

Community comes together with Tewksbury Reads

TEWKSBURY - Tewksbury Reads is a program where the entire community comes together over one book. The Tewksbury Public Library has won a grant from the Institute of Museum and Library Services to promote this fabulous program where we encourage everyone in town to read the same book and then get together during the month of June to attend events, programs and conversations.

The title for this year's Tewksbury Reads has been unveiled and the book we hope every adult in town reads is Irish Thunder: The Hard Life and Times of Micky Ward. We thought this book would have a lot of appeal as it is about the famous boxer from Lowell, Micky Ward, and had an award-winning movie called The Fighter made about it. If you have already seen the movie, you have a headstart on the book! But like every book-to-movie, there are some pretty large differences, so you will still get a lot out of reading the book.

The Library has many, many copies of the book available for check out. Come by and pick one up to read soon because once June arrives, we will have month chock full of wonderful events, beginning with a visit from Micky Ward himself on Saturday, June 2nd at the Tewksbury Senior Center. All of the events will be connected to the book in some way, from visits with Micky and the author Bob Halloran to a screening of the film The Fighter to a Wii Boxing Tournament to organized conversations about the book. Some of the conversation groups will be in other locations, for example, one will be held at the SkyBox one evening. All events will be free and open to the public and the Library will be opening late some evenings just for these amazing programs. Keep checking the Library's online calendar at tewksburypl.org to find out what will be happening when.

If you are active online, you can find out information about what is happening with Tewksbury Reads on its own Facebook page at facebook.com/TewksburyReads. You can also follow us on Twitter under TewksburyReads, look for upcoming events on the Library's calendar at tewksburypl.org or follow our blog on the Tewksbury Patch. From now until June, you can participate in a weekly trivia raffle on the Tewksbury Reads Facebook page or in person at the display in the Library. A winner from all of the correct answers will be randomly chosen each week to win two front row seats to hear Micky Ward speak and an autographed copy of the book.

And keep your eyes peeled as the Library makes an appearance in the Memorial Day parade to kick off the beginning of Tewksbury Reads' programs and events.

We hope to see you at the Library soon and that you will join us in June. And thank you again to our grant sponsor, The Institute of Museum and Library Services as well as to the Friends of the Tewksbury Library. The Institute of Museum and Library Services is the primary source of federal support for the nation's 123,000 libraries and 17,500 museums. The Institute's mission is to create strong libraries and museums that connect people to information and ideas. The Institute works at the national level and in coordination with state and local organizations to sustain heritage, culture, and knowledge; enhance learning and innovation; and support professional development. To learn more about the Institute, please visit www.imls.gov.

D'Entremont Best in Show

TMHS Art Show Winners

TEWKSBURY - Friday and Saturday parents, guardians, and excited students visited the annual Art Show held for the last time in the TMHS gym (next year it will be in the new high school). Senior Amy D'Entremont won Best in Show for her colorful chalk on paper silhouette titled "Wild Inside." Students in all grades were featured in the fantastic show, hosted by art teachers throughout Tewksbury Public Schools. The TMHS PAC sent thanks to art teachers, the TMHS custodial staff, and the Tewksbury Community of Artists judges. Congratulations to all student artists and high school winners, listed here.

Candidates that have been invited include: U.S. Senator candidates Elizabeth Warren and Marisa DeFranco; U.S. Congressman John Tierney;

State Representatives James Miceli and Charley Murphy; Sheriff Peter Koutojian; Register of Deeds Richard Howe, Jr.; and Governor's Council candidates David Bumiller, Eileen Duff, David Eppley, and George T. O'Brine.

Tickets cost $10. Contact Chairman Gary DePalma at 978-658-2330 to purchase tickets.

Kendra & Anthony's Hand-Crafted Pizza is moving to a new location

WILMINGTON - Final days. Kendra & Anthony's Hand-Crafted Pizza in Wilmington will close its doors Friday, May 11, 2012 with plans to reopen in a new location.

"I would like to thank all of our valued customers that we have enjoyed serving over the last four years," says owner Joe Prezioso. "Kendra & Anthony's would not have been the establishment that it is today without the support and business that you all have created for us in the town of Wilmington. Please come by Kendra & Anthony's in the final days to enjoy your favorite pizza and wings and let us personally say thank you for your patronage."

Not to worry, the new location will offer the Hand-Crafted pizzas that customers have come to love and Joe Wingman Wings will be flying to new heights. New surprises may be on the menu as well!

"I am hopeful that our new location will continue to grow our business and that we will be creating a legacy for future generations who love great food, but I will never forget our loyal clientele who supported Kendra & Anthony's in our infancy."

Kendra and Anthony's is located at 251 Main Street, Wilmington, MA and is named after Joe's two children. Check out kendraanthony.com for updates on the move.

Nation's largest single-day food drive May 12

U.S. Postal Service and National Association of Letter Carriers continue 20-Year tradition

GREATER BOSTON — On

May 12, local communities across America will be asked to join the U.S. Postal Service and its letter carriers to combat one of this nation's growing problems — hunger.

About 50 million Americans — including 17 million children — now live in families that lack sufficient food.

The Postal Service, the National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC), Campbell Soup Company, Feeding America and other partner organizations are working together to collect food donations on May 12. It is the nation's largest single-day food drive in local communities across America — including Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands.

Now in its 20th year, the Stamp Out Hunger food drive benefits Feeding America, the nation's largest domestic hunger-relief organization.

"The Postal Service is pleased to continue supporting the National Association of Letter Carriers as we enter our 20th year together to help Stamp Out Hunger in America," said Postmaster General Patrick Donahoe. "I am confident the 2012 campaign will be our best ever because the need continues to grow."

In 2011, letter carriers collected 70.2 million pounds of food donated by customers on their delivery routes, which marked the eighth consecutive year the total food collection was at least 70 million pounds.

This year, Nick Cannon, multi-talented entertainer and member of the Feeding America Entertainment Council, is the national spokesperson for the Stamp Out Hunger food drive for the second consecutive year.

The drive particularly hits home for Cannon, who experienced hunger and visited food pantries as a child. Cannon will promote the drive on television and radio, as well as in print and social media to encourage even greater participation and donations.

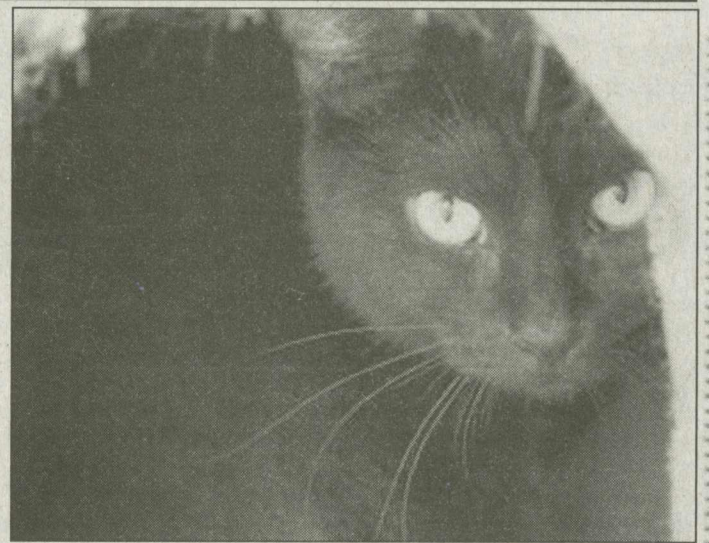

To participate in the 20th Stamp Out Hunger food drive, residents are encouraged to leave a sturdy bag containing non-perishable foods, such as canned soup, canned vegetables, pasta, rice or cereal next to their mailbox prior to the time of regular mail delivery on Saturday, May 12. Letter carriers will collect these food donations as they deliver the mail and take them to their local food bank or pantry.

Post cards and shopping bags promoting the food drive will be delivered by letter carriers to more than 90 million homes across the country as a reminder to participate in the drive.

Other partner organizations supporting the Stamp Out Hunger food drive are the National Rural Letter Carriers' Association, Valpak, United Way, AFL-CIO, Uncle Bob's Self-Storage and AARP.

The Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive began at the local level in the late 1980s and went nationwide in 1992.

For more information about the annual Stamp Out Hunger food drive, visit www.helpstampouthunger.com or www.facebook.com/StampOutHunger, and follow the drive at www.twitter.com/StampOutHunger.

Chapel

Rescue a new best friend

WILMINGTON - Chapel has a unique name and a very interesting rescue story. First and foremost, she is a two-year old Siamese mix and recent mom of two. Her all black markings/coloring and stunning golden eyes highlight her gorgeous face and healthy, attractive short fur coat. When Chapel was rescued, she was very scared of people at first. We think she came from an accidental litter and never received attention. She was abandoned and we found her in a manger at a church in Tewksbury (hence the unique name Chapel) just after giving birth to two beautiful Siamese babies. One, all black like mom, and one seal point. Chapel's kittens found a wonderful home together while she remains in foster care.

The good news is that Chapel has flourished into a lovely little girl in her foster home. She is very comfortable being around other cats and people she knows, and she doesn't seem to mind dogs either. We brush her and trim her nails without a complaint. Litter box trained and a good eater,

Chapel has great habits. She's not real talkative but she definitely purrs to show you she likes you. Chapel is a loving and sweet girl who is ready to be a snuggling lap cat. And talk about her choice of location for giving birth — in a manger in a church! We're sure that Chapel has a deep-rooted faith, that someone is watching over her, and she is determined to find herself a home that she can call her manger again.

Phishing scam contains fake US Airways itinerary

BOSTON - There's a new phishing scam flooding email inboxes; this time it's an itinerary for a fake US Airways flight.

The scam involves an email containing a phony itinerary for a flight reservation the recipient never actually made. The email contains a link to "check-in" online for the flight, a fake confirmation code, and flight details. The phishing scam is deceiving because it looks authentic, even including the US Airways logo.

US Airways reminds customers that official emails often include personal information such as their name and Dividend Miles number. However their Web Check-in emails will not contain a name, but will have a valid confirmation code that will either be alphanumeric or all letters.

If you receive the email:

- Check any links by hovering your mouse pointer over the link to identify the URL. A legitimate link will have a URL with "usairways.com."

- Do not click on any links or download any attachments.

- Delete the email.

See BBB.org's complete scam directory for more information about breaking scams in your area.

Lauren Camillieri receives nurse's pin at ceremony

MANCHESTER, NH -- Lauren Camillieri, of Wilmington, a senior nursing major at Saint Anselm College, received a Saint Anselm College nurse's pin at the 2012 pinning ceremony in the Abbey Church on April 28.

It was a special day for Camillieri, who received a pin featuring elements of the college's official seal and the symbol of a lamp referring to Psalm 119:105, "Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light for my path." Dr. Sharon George, dean of nursing, pinned her with the Saint Anselm pin to wear for the entirety of her career.

The pinning ceremony is a celebration of a student's completion of Saint Anselm College's respected nursing program and symbolizes preparedness to serve as a compassionate caregiver in the healthcare setting.

Camillieri will receive a Bachelor of Science in Nursing on May 19 at Saint Anselm College's commencement ceremonies.

Tewksbury Senior Topics

Parade Activities committee May 15; Lots of Trips!; Silvertones May 18

This Saturday, May 12th, Rick Larrimore will be appearing at the Tewksbury Senior Center performing his "Tribute to Rod Stewart". As an added feature Lee Lewis and the Doo Wop Allstars will also be on hand for even more entertainment. You won't want to miss this musically energized evening of show and dancing. Tickets are $20 per person and may be obtained at the door. The doors open at 7:15 and show time is 8:00 PM.

Ticket sales for the Mohegan Sun day trip of June 5th go on sale next Monday, May 14th at 8:15 AM.

A Parade Activities meeting has been scheduled for next Tuesday, May 15th, at 3:00 PM. Those planning to participate in the Senior Citizen Floats are asked to attend this meeting. If one is participating and needs a shirt, please let the Director know as soon as possible. Also, we are in need of an artist to paint an image on our 4' x 4' float sign.

The Red Hat Carnation Belles will be holding a pot

Two automotive students gunning for national competition

BILLERICA - Shawsheen Valley Technical High School seniors Patrick Nowlan of Billerica and Joseph Anderson of Wilmington will compete in a state automotive service competition on May 9 in Norwood.

The contest is co-sponsored by AAA and the Ford Motor Company and its objective is to encourage talented young people to pursue careers as automotive service technicians.

The students qualified for the state test after taking a written test of 55 questions in February.

The top 10 teams from the written results advance to this "hands on" state finals, which will be held at UTI Automotive School and Diesel Training.

"They are two of the better students we have," said Ben Hurley, an automotive instructor at Shawsheen Tech. "They have both been on co-op the entire year and they both work very hard."

The May 9 competition will see Nowlan and Anderson work on a Ford Fusion and try to diagnose and repair a malfunction in the vehicle. Each of the 10 teams has the same vehicle that has identical problems. The contest requires repairs to be made with the highest quality workmanship in the lowest total time.

"You have to get it running and you have to make it perfect," Hurley said. "Then you drive it with your seatbelt on and a judge in the back seat."

If Nowlan and Anderson can win on May 9, they'll advance to the national finals in Dearborn, Michigan. The all-expenses paid trip would be in June.

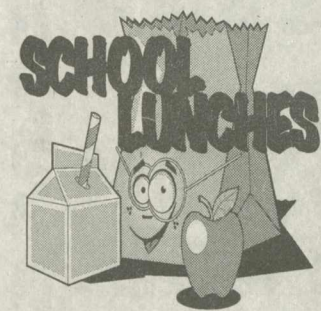

Students at the state competition can win scholarships, trophies, jackets, certificates, trips and automotive equipment and the name of each contestant is submitted to AAA affiliated service facilities, Ford Motor Company dealers and other sponsoring organizations.

Public invited SEPAC Board meeting

WILMINGTON - Special Education Parent Advisory Council (SEPAC) invites parents, guardians and other interested parties to attend a Board Meeting on Thursday, May 10, 2012, from 7:00-9:00 p.m. at the Wilmington High School Library, 159 Church Street, Wilmington. At this meeting, the SEPAC will discuss its progress throughout the 2011-2012 school year, and the election for 2012-2013 SEPAC officers will be held.

If you plan to attend this meeting, it would be helpful (but not necessary) if you send an email to fjobrien@gmail.com, so we will have a sufficient number of handouts available.

For more information about Wilmington SEPAC, go to <http://www.wilmington.k12.ma.us/SEPAC.htm>.

Search for Melanie Melanson continues

WOBURN - The first public/private partnership of a forensic dig in Massachusetts will take place later this summer.

Resources will be brought together from the District Attorney's Office, Woburn Police, Massachusetts State Police, Mission for the Missing and Connecticut K-9 Search & Rescue.

World-renowned forensic anthropologists Dr. Bill Bass of the Body Farm in Tennessee and Dr. Aparad Vass of the National Forensic Academy will be participating.

Melanie went missing in 1989 at the age of fourteen. Multiple searches have been held since then including one in October 2011. That search brought indications from certified human remains detection dogs of human decomposition scent. Soil samples taken prior to the search had come back positive for human decomposition.

To assist in funding the endeavor, a benefit featuring Mission for the Missing co-founder Maureen Hancock will be held on May 20, 2012 at the Crestview, 36 Montvale Avenue in Woburn. For more information or to buy tickets please go to www.missionforthemissing.com.

Pleasure Island Memories (RR)

Thursday, May 17, 7 pm
Join Robert McLaughlin, co-founder of Friends of Pleasure Island, for his presentation on the "Disneyland of the East." Pleasure Island rose from the wetlands off of Route 128 in Wakefield into an 80-acre theme park, opening its doors in June 1959. Pleasure Island recalls memories of boat rides to Pirate Cove, searching for the great white whale, driving a Jenney car, and getting dizzy in the Slanty Shanty. At Pleasure Island, children and children at heart entered into a world where character actors continually put on a show and the entire park was the stage.

Foreign Film Tuesdays— The Piano in a Factory (China) (RR)

Tuesday, May 22, 7 pm
When Chen's estranged wife reappears asking for a divorce and custody of their daughter, the musician girl decides she will live with whoever can provide her a piano. Chen's struggle thus begins. When efforts to borrow money and even steal a piano fail, Chen concocts a preposterous plan—he'll make a piano from scratch! He persuades a bunch of reluctant, but loyal, misfit friends to help him forge the instrument in a derelict factory from a heap of scrap steel. Though crude in design and tune, the factory piano awaits its first and final performance from his little girl. Shown on the big screen in the library conference room; refreshments provided.

Summers deployed aboard USS Enterprise

WILMINGTON - Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Tyler J. Summers, son of Coren and Charles Panzino of Wilmington, is currently deployed. Summers along with fellow Sailors and Marines aboard the aircraft carrier USS Enterprise (CVN 65) and Carrier Strike Group (CSG) are conducting training and promoting the Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM) campaign throughout the month of April.

Enterprise Sailors are focusing on the awareness and prevention of sexual assault in support of the overall Department of Defense theme, "Hurts One, Affects All." SAAM initiative is to ensure each and every Sailor and Marine aboard the Enterprise completely understands that the prevention of sexual assault is an all-hands effort.

Sexual assault not only negatively impacts the Navy's readiness, but also the well being of Sailors. This effort is driven by Enterprise's leadership; every Sailor and Marine has the right to a workplace free of discrimination, harassment and assault.

The Command's SAAM initiative consists of three phases. The first phase, "Hurts One, Affects All," informs service members that even a single incident of sexual assault negatively impacts combat readiness and effectiveness. The second phase, "Prevention is Everyone's Duty," focuses on how Sailors and Marines must look out for one another, both on and off duty, to prevent harm. The third phase, "We Will Not Tolerate Sexual Assault," stresses the fact that sexual assault is a problem affecting everyone in the military, regardless of service or paygrade, and must be eliminated through an all-hands effort.

Enterprise is embracing the Navy's SAAM month mission and is actively working to increase awareness and prevention among its crew members. Additional support and information regarding sexual assault prevention can be found at www.sapr.navy.mil.

Sexual Assault Prevention and Response is an important element of the readiness area of the 21st Century Sailor and Marine initiative which consolidates a set of objectives and policies, new and existing, to maximize Sailor and Marine personal readiness, build resiliency and hone the most combat-effective force in the history of the Navy and Marine Corps. The Department of the Navy is working to aggressively to prevent sexual assaults, to support sexual assault victims, and to hold offenders accountable.

the North Intermediate School, and a new wireless network and other technology updates at the Middle School.

Voters defeated all eight warrant articles petitioned by Kevin MacDonald, three of which sought to directly overturn the vote taken on the new high school project in December. Town Moderator Jim Stewart deemed all three "out of order" via consult with the Town's attorney John Foskett.

But that didn't stop MacDonald from stepping to the microphone during the discussion of nearly all of the warrant articles at the meeting. Just as in December, MacDonald voted in favor of many articles just to move for reconsideration or appeal the Moderator's decisions.

Approximately four hours into the meeting, and after several confrontations between MacDonald and Stewart, MacDonald was escorted out.

"I try to deal with people as respectfully as possible," Stewart said. "But there is a limit to my patience, and I just got there. Mr. MacDonald, it's over. Enough. Get out of here. Chief [Begonis], please get him out of here."

Although MacDonald was gone, government officials were not without opposition. Article 27 outlined a procedure regarding public employees who are members of the army, air national guard or a reserve component of the military and are on leave for active duty. If the soldier's base military pay is less than his regular base salary as a public employee, the Town must compensate the soldier the difference in pay during his leave.

The Finance Committee and Town Manager Michael Caira explained that because there were no estimates as to how much this measure would cost the Town, they recommended that further information be obtained before voters approved the article.

"This should not be misconstrued as anti-military," Caira said. "But I wish the petitioner [William Cavanaugh, III] had attended the Finance Committee Public Hearing [to answer questions and possibly amend the article]."

Two selectmen, Louis Cimaglia and Michael Champoux, and State Representative Jim Miceli spoke in support of the article.

"I don't know what the cost would be to the Town, but I support this article. It is a good thing," Chairman of the Board of Selectmen Louis Cimaglia said.

Voters passed the article in a vote of 74/27. Although his recommendation regarding the measure was not followed, the Town Manager did not seem upset about the vote.

"I am fine with supporting the wishes of the majority. That is why we have Town Meeting," he said.

Unanimous vote to buy Yentile's Farm

pal, it did not allocate funds for the development of the land as such. Residents will have to vote on funding the development of the land at a later date.

Several residents voiced concerns both prior to and at the Annual Town Meeting about the possible contamination of the land and the costs involved with cleaning it up for recreational use. The previous owners, Franchi Equipment Company, Inc., planned to build a 76-unit condominium complex for people aged 55 and older. It completed some site work, including a foundation, utility hook-ups, grading and backfill, but Franchi Equipment never finished the project. Franchi Equipment was also accused of filling the property with contaminated or unsuitable materials.

Caira said at the Annual Meeting that soil samples were taken after the previous owners had stopped developing the property that resulted in no significant findings of contaminated materials. He said more detailed questions regarding the tests completed should be directed to Wilmington Director of Public Health Shelly Newhouse.

Recent winner of the Annual Election, Selectman Michael Champoux has been an avid supporter of developing new field space in Wilmington said he was proud of the unanimous vote.

"I am again very impressed with and proud of our residents for their intelligence and understanding of the value of this transaction and the importance of this property to Wilmington for future generations of youth to enjoy playing sports on and for all residents to enjoy as open, recreational space," he said. "It was a very satisfying vote."

school class with Lori because he likes to cook. He enjoyed her classes, especially because "I like all the hands-on stuff, and that she used fresh, local foods. And I also liked that she trusted us with knives - if I were a cooking teacher, I don't think I would trust kids to use them!" Eric adds, "My favorite day was ravioli day, because you got to choose your filling, cut the dough and make your own designs with it, and it turned out to be really good. Now fresh ravioli is one of my favorite foods."

In talking about what is unique about the age group the "Summer Sizzle" program focuses on, Lori offers that "they are joyfully honest which I love, and they are often willing to try new things. They LOVE to be given the responsibility of working in a kitchen with real equipment. These kids are young, but not babies! They can cut, measure and cook and they do a really great job of it-while having fun and learning."

One of the ways Lori will help the kids learn this summer is by bringing in a local baker and a farmer for "in house" field trips. She says, "I learn something new each class session as well!" Lori has already lined up a visit from Wilmington resident Jenn Robbins of Robbins Nest Bakery, one of the vendors at the Wilmington Farmers Market. Lori is also hoping to have Amanda Munsie of Bountiful Basket Farm come to visit the class. Last year, Amanda was the Market Manager at Wilmington Farmers Market; this year, she will be a vendor, selling produce, poultry, and eggs.

Lori plans to do her shopping for Summer Sizzle at the Wilmington Farmers Market, which will be open for the season on June 17, the day before the program begins. That fits in with the way she structures each day: "The kids will be challenged each day with a box of farm fresh local ingredients, and they will be asked to decide on a menu for their lunch that day. We will all decide on the menu, and spend the class cooking us a fabulous feast! This is a hands-on cooking class, where everyone gets up and cooks! Kids will be challenged to try some foods that they might never have had before, and to cook with them."

As far as what she hopes the kids take away from the class, she says, "I hope that they try a new food, and that they learn to love cooking. I hope that they walk away from the class feeling empowered by the knowledge that their food choices can have an effect on their own health and the health of their environment. And I hope that they have so much fun that they want to visit their local farmers market and keep on cooking! And mostly I hope that they get a chance to cook with their families and all sit down to a great home cooked meal!"

As an added bonus at the conclusion of the week, participants will receive coupons to use at the Wilmington Farmers Market.

For more information about the program, see the Recreation Department's spring flyer, available online at town.wilmington.ma.us, click Departments, and then choose Recreation. For more on Kids Cooking Green, go to kidscookinggreen.com.

attack. The pitbull has minor injuries, including a scratch on the nose and a potential bite. The Labrador was much more severely injured and ended up on pain pills and stitches following the incident, according to Sawyer.

Sawyer picked up the dog on Sunday and took her to Wilmington's animal pound at Andover Animal Hospital for a ten-day quarantine. Sawyer stated that the pitbull had been quarantined before for injuries to another animal, just last month.

Following Saturday's incident, the Animal Control Officers requested, and Powers agreed Monday, to have the dog humanely euthanized through Andover Animal Hospital. The dog will be euthanized following the ten-day mandatory quarantine.

Powers will be held responsible for all charges related to the housing of his dog at the pound.

Calling all kids

PMC Bike Ride, Sunday

By KAYTI BURT
Sports Correspondent

You're never too young to start helping others. This is the message heralded by the thousands of kids who take part in the Pan-Mass Challenge (PMC) Kids Ride every year, cycling to raise money for cancer research and treatment at the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute.

Thirty-five communities across the state take part in the sister event to the adult Pan-Mass Challenge, and Wilmington is one of them. This Sunday, at least 100 local kids will take to their bikes for a good cause.

The Pan-Mass Challenge - held annually in August - started in 1980 as the nation's first fundraising bike-a-thon. Since then, it has contributed over $303 million to the Dana-Farber Institute, and it holds the boasting rights of raising more money than any other athletic fundraising event in the country. The PMC donates 100 percent of all rider-raised donations directly to the institute through the Jimmy Fund.

PMC kids event came around a bit later, and was, in fact, started by kids, said Sue Hendee, one of the organizers of the event for the town. The Kids Ride officially became part of the PMC in 2005, giving kids from age 3 to 15 the opportunity to do their part. Last year, the PMC Kids Ride raised over $400,000 in 30 different towns.

"It's an incredible example of how a small idea can make a big difference," said Hendee.

Hendee, a physical education teacher at the Shawsheen Elementary School and girls' soccer coach at Wilmington High School, has been part of the Pan-Mass Challenge for 22 years, but brought the Kids Ride to Wilmington seven years ago when she and Wilmington resident Carolyn Priem joined forces. Both had a personal connection to the cause. Priem's son was treated at Dana-Farber, while Hendee's mother died from breast cancer.

"I want to do something in her honor," said Hendee.

The Jimmy Fund, the official charity of the Boston Red Sox, has been raising money to support the fight against cancer at Dana-Farber since 1948, and lists the Pan-Massachusetts Challenge as one of its major fundraising events. The Dana-Farber Institute, the principal teaching affiliate of Harvard Medical School, has a mission to "provide expert, compassionate care to children and adults with cancer while advancing the understanding, diagnosis, treatment, cure, and prevention of cancer and related diseases."

Hendee is hoping for 200 kids pre-kindergarten to sixth grade to participate. In Wilmington, the route is a continuous loop that the kids can circle. It starts by the Boutwell Elementary School, heads down Carter Lane to continue past the Wilmington Middle School and West Elementary School before returning back to Boutwell. The full course is approximately one mile and participants will have the

Second annual road race a success

Hundreds pay tribute to Kim Forte

By KAYTI BURT
Sports Correspondent

It's not uncommon for excitement around an event to dwindle after its inaugural year, but there was no sign of slackened enthusiasm at the second annual Women of Wilmington (WOW) 5K/Kim Forte Walk on Sunday. There were 437 people in total who registered and walked or ran the race on Sunday. The top finisher was Joseph Koech, of Chelmsford, who finished in an impressive 16:16:50. Naomi Mungai, also of Chelmsford, was the top female finisher with a time of 21:31:50, earning her a 16th place finish overall. Local top finisher honors went to James Munywoki, of Wilmington (18:01:02, 3rd) and Brian McCarthy, of Tewksbury (19:18:20, 5th).

Many were there for Kim Forte - who was killed walking home from the gym in February of last year - but even those who didn't know the wife and mother personally had seen her walking around town enough to realize the event dedicated to fitness, community, and helping others would have been exactly her cup of tea.

"Oh my god, she'd have led the parade," said Kim's mother, Luera Surette, of Revere. "She would have run and then she would have come back and joined in walking."

"That's right. She would have lapped us," Kim's sister, Sharon Nelson, of Everett, New Hampshire joined in.

Both women were decked out in blue shirts with Kim's smiling face and the motto "Miles of Smiles," and were not the only one. Many of Kim's friends and family members made the walk and raised money privately for a scholarship given in Kim's name to a Middlesex Community College student who needs it. Kim taught at the college.

"She was all about education and furthering other peoples' careers and worrying about more people than herself," said Kim's niece, Midori Nelson, another clad in smiling blue.

In this way, the WOW fundraiser event is the perfect memorial. The young organization - it was formed less than two years ago - has the "simple yet powerful purpose of helping, however

ROAD RACE PG SP4W

Wilmington resident Karen O'Reilly took Lou Forte's advice to heart - at the beginning of the race he said that Kim used to tell everyone to skip while you were walking - it would put a smile on your face and if not, it would make those around you smile. Well, O'Reilly took that to heart and skipped across the finish line during Sunday's Kim Forte Memorial Road Race. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Becky McGrath designs race up perfectly

By KAYTI BURT
Sports Correspondent

Becky McGrath finished the Women of Wilmington's (WOW) second annual 5K/Walk for Kim Forte in 30 minutes and 51 seconds - earning her a 119th finish overall and 13th in her age group - but it took the freelance web and graphic designer a bit longer to design the fliers and t-shirts for the day's event.

"I have a graphic and marketing background, so it is a great way for me to contribute," said McGrath of the work she did to support the event. "I am on the Board of Directors for WOW, so I am very involved in the group. I tend to volunteer for opportunities that allow me to use my graphic and marketing talents - like the road race, Festival of Trees and the WOW monthly member newsletter."

Michelle Bryan, WOW Vice President and Race Director, has known McGrath for over 20 years and describes the wife and mother as a "loyal, genuine, sweet, thoughtful, devoted, and dedicated."

"She is also an amazing mom and friend," said Bryan. "She is amazing core family values and I am blessed to count her as a lifelong friend."

Beyond the designs for this most recent WOW event, McGrath designs logos, brochures, and signage for all WOW events, as well as producing the organization's monthly newsletter and updating the website.

"She is immensely talented in what she does as a graphic designer," said Bryan. "She donates all of her skills and knowledge to WOW and she is the reason for our professional appearance as an organization."

The 16-page booklet distributed at the race included messages from Bryan; Kim Forte's wife, Lou; and a breakdown of WOW's contributions to the community over the past year. The flier and t-shirt took McGrath many hours over several months to design, but less than last year's designs, which she could use as templates to update. Using the same basic artwork for the shirt, she updated the sponsors and switched around the colors to create a lime green shirt with blue and white script. McGrath worked with the sponsors of the event (many of which were the same) to update the information in the flier.

"My hope is that the community will be compelled to save it as a memento as well as a resource on local businesses," said McGrath of the flier. "These companies are consistently giving to WOW and the community and it is my hope the community will thank them by supporting their businesses."

McGrath found the time in her busy schedule with commitments to work and family, not an unfamiliar narrative in the lives of the women (and men) who give their time to WOW. McGrath has two children - Aidan (age 9) and Dillon (age 7) - who she raises with husband Edward.

"Many of our members have very busy lives, including myself," said McGrath. "It can sometimes be a struggle to balance WOW with work and family, but it is so rewarding and makes me a better person."

McGrath said that all of the work is worth it and that is sets an example for her kids that giving back should be a part of their everyday lives. She also noted that members of WOW can choose their level of involvement based on the time they have in their life.

"Involvement in WOW can be as little as making a meal for someone twice a year, to chairing a large fundraising event," said McGrath.

McGrath calls herself a

"casual runner" who participates in two or three events per year, but she has a number of reasons for participating in this particular event.

"It is important to me to get my children involved in fitness activities at a young age so that they will continue them for a lifetime," said McGrath. "I love to experience the great energy that comes from doing something good for the community."

McGrath's final reason was a common one among the nearly 500 runners and walkers who turned out for the event, the walking portion of which is named for Kim Forte, the Wilmington resident who was struck and killed by a car when walking home from the gym last year.

"I believe it is important to show that even when the world loses someone wonderful something special and good can come from it," said McGrath, who knew Forte as an acquaintance from fitness classes at the gym and, like many others, from Forte's many walks and bike rides around town.

"I would marvel at her," she said. "She always had so much pep and energy. Always a smile on her face."

McGrath, who became involved with WOW as a way to support her friend Jomarie O'Mahoney and because of the opportunity to make a positive impact on other peoples' lives, thinks that every community should have an organization and events like this one.

"There is incredible comfort in knowing that there are people who have your back if you fall on tough times or are in need of support," she said.

McGrath has lived for the last eleven years and worked here for the past decade, as her freelance business is based from home. She cites the people of Wilmington as the main reason WOW, which was founded less than two years ago, and events like this one have been so successful.

"I've met so many amazing, generous people here," she said. "This event has been so successful because we have the best community in Wilmington. People here always rise up when called upon to give back to the community. It's amazing."

The road race was competing with several other local races, noted McGrath, including the Walk for Hunger, as well as with town soccer, which was rescheduled from Saturday to Sunday, but the WOW event still saw over 500 people in attendance.

"I was completely blown away by the numbers - over 500," said McGrath. "Many other participants have also expressed to me how impressed and moved they were by the turnout."

McGrath names the event's family-friendly nature for another reason for its success.

"We encourage entire families to participate together and they did," said McGrath. "The number of registered children was much higher this year than last and we hope to see that trend continue next year."

McGrath's family certainly put this philosophy to practice. In addition to herself, McGrath's husband, oldest son, mother, younger sister, and three nieces all walked or ran the event. Even for those family members who didn't want to run or walk, there were other ways to get involved, noted McGrath. Her older sister and nephew announcing the times and taking pictures at the one-mile marker, her son and parents-in-law handing out water at the water station, and her dad cheering everyone on at the finish line.

The day was perfect for the event, noted McGrath, and the course - which starts at the town, follows Route 62 to Wildwood Street, Woburn, Federal, and Middlesex before finishing back at the common - was good for a variety of fitness levels.

"[It was] not too difficult and flat enough to allow regular runners to achieve really great times," said McGrath, adding that there was an excited and positive energy in the air throughout.

"Even along the run everyone was smiling and having a great time," recounted McGrath. "I had a couple in front of me most of the race pushing strollers and the dad was motivating his family through the whole race. It was really sweet and it kept me pushing myself as well."

Going forward, McGrath would like to see even more people join the ranks of WOW, especially more men and children. Many of the current members come from the same demographic - parents of school-aged children - with similar interests and access to certain spheres of the community. As a result, much of WOW's work thus far has been based in the schools. This is great, McGrath said, but she would love to see other demographics represented.

"We'd really like to expand that to older and generations so that charitable opportunities in that age group are brought to our awareness," she said. "We also want to get our youth involved so that they can create interest in their age group and pay it forward as they grow up."

possible, local individuals and families in need." Last year, they were able to use the money raised from the first 5K/Kim Forte walk to meet myriad of community needs including: multiple scholarships for high school seniors; the Sponsor-a-Child program; the Wilmington Family Museum Pass program; an Ipad for a Wilmington teacher who incorporated community service into her curriculum; holiday presents for local families; assistance to the Wilmington Food Pantry; and implementation of a clothing pantry.

"We continue to honor Kim this year and this event really captures her spirit and WOW's mission of 'It is nice to be important, but more important to be nice,'" WOW Vice President and Race Director Michelle Bryan wrote in the event's brochure. "We will change this world with one act of kindness at a time."

Bryan also thanked Kim's husband, Lou, who shared a few words at the start of the race. He reciprocated WOW's gratitude and extended his thanks to the entire community.

"We want to thank each and everyone of you for continued support and love. Knowing you're all here for our family would certainly make Kim smile," said Lou. "Kim touched so many people along the way. She didn't plan it that way, but she had a gift - one that inspired and motivated. She was a natural, sharing her love with all those whose paths she crossed. With her bright smile, she could make your day. She made mine bright and happy for over 35 years. I was the lucky one waking up to all that love everyday."

Lou was not the only one to notice Kim's smile. Though they did not know Kim personally, Maryann Fogarty and Margie Malone made the walk for her.

"She always had a smile," remembered Fogarty. "We always saw her walking around town."

"Everybody's taking something tragic and turning it into something good," noted Malone. "If you can do your little part to have something good come out of something bad, then I guess that's really worth it."

Paul and Heidi Lunn and Stephanie Donovan live down the road from the Fortes.

"She would have been out in front leading with a huge smile," said Donovan. "We miss her walking around the neighborhood. We saw her everyday."

"She had a smile that lit up the world," said Heidi Lunn. "Everyday. Rain or shine."

Paul Lunn was impressed with the organization of the event and WOW in general.

"I get the paper every week and they're always in there doing something," said Paul.

WOW clarified their actions in a "by the numbers" page in their brochure, spelling out exactly what they have been up to in the past year. Among the numbers: 68 meals prepared and delivered to individuals and families; 23 families received assistance through WOW clothing pantry; six children sponsored for local activities; 60 back-to-school backpacks with supplies; 316 members of WOW (including five men); and "countless sponsors, member donations, and volunteer hours that have made this all possible."

"What an honor it is to say thank you to all of you for your contributions of time and self to continue Kim's legacy of reaching out and helping," said Lou. "Today, you were inspired, motivated, or just like taking part in something special. Take back some of the special joy with you. Smile, skip, run as Wonder Woman - however you choose to celebrate life. Kim taught me to skip everyday. It'll make you smile, or at least it will make whoever's watching smile. Make someone's day. You all just made mine."

Tennis/Girls Track Round-Up

Boys still set out to reach their goal

By MIKE IPPOLITO & JAMIE POTE

The Wilmington High Boys Tennis team set a goal for themselves at the start of the season to qualify for the state tournament and despite a bit of a rough week for the Wildcats, that goal is still very much alive as the season heads into its home stretch.

After starting the week strong with a 4-1 win on the road at Wakefield last Wednesday, the Wildcats ran into the iron of the Middlesex League, suffering a 4-1 loss to Burlington last Thursday and a 5-0 loss to Belmont on Monday.

The 1-2 week left the Wildcats with a 4-7 overall record with seven matches left in the regular season.

In the loss to Belmont, the Wildcats simply found themselves up against a much deeper and more experienced team.

"We were a little short-handed today without our number one player, but it probably would not have mattered," Wilmington coach Rob Mailey said. "Belmont is a very solid team. Every kid on the team plays three times a week all year long. It is just hard for us to compete with that."

The loss to Belmont was very similar to the 4-1 loss to Burlington with the Wildcats once again matched up against a talented and experienced group of players.

"Once again they are a very strong team," Mailey said. "They are the number one team in the Middlesex Small and they will win the league going away. They have 35 kids on the team and they are all hard workers. It is very impressive to see."

The lone win of the day for the Wildcats came from the second doubles team of senior Dan Keane and freshman Robbie Mailey who earned a 6-4, 6-1 victory.

"That's a good win for them against a talented team," Mailey said. "The two of them are getting better as they play together more."

The Wildcats looked very strong in their 4-1 win over Wakefield on the road last Wednesday, and one of the players that Mailey was most impressed with was the player who suffered Wilmington's only defeat of the day, number one singles player Zach Curley.

"That was one of our best matches of the day," Mailey said. He was neck and neck right to the very end and I thought he played very well despite not being able to get the win."

Freshmen Justin Wright earned a 6-3, 6-2 win for the Wildcats in second singles, while junior Will MacKinnon pulled off a dramatic 2-6, 6-3, 7-5 comeback victory in third singles.

"Justin played his best match of the season against a great player. He did a lot of the things we talked about in practice. He moved his feet well, and he stayed disciplined throughout the match," Mailey said. "Will had a nice comeback win and never gave up. You like to see that."

The Wildcats also won both doubles matches with the first doubles combination of Jamie Marra and Zach Anderson taking a 6-1, 6-3 win and Mailey and Keane pulling off a 6-1, 6-3 victory.

The Wildcats will look to get back on the winning track this week, but it will not be easy as they will face a pair of Middlesex League powers in Winchester and Arlington, both on the road.

"Winchester is one of the strongest teams in the Middlesex league and Arlington is also very good," Mailey said. "As this season unfolds we are realizing that the Middlesex League is very strong, even stronger than we expected. I feel like it is one of the best leagues in all of Eastern Mass."

Despite the obstacles in front of them, Mailey and his squad are still confident they can make a run at the tournament, but Mailey knows his team will have to step up their game in order to do so.

"We are still shooting for it," Mailey said. "We will have to pull an upset against one of the stronger teams if we are going to pull it off, but we are still in contention, which is very good. That was our goal at the start of the season and it has not changed."

GIRLS TENNIS

Like the boys team the Wilmington High Girls Tennis team went through probably the toughest week of their schedule this past week, and like the boys, they struggled against the best of the Middlesex League, as the Wildcats dropped all three of their matches.

Wilmington started the week with a 4-1 loss at home against Wakefield last Wednesday before dropping 5-0 road decisions to Burlington last Thursday and Belmont on Monday. The 0-3 week dropped the Wildcats to 1-10 on the season.

In the Wakefield match, the Wildcats one win of the day came from junior Kristen Tavares in third singles, as she picked up a straight set 7-5, 6-3 victory. The second doubles team of senior captain Sabrina Mirabella and junior Julia Carter played well despite losing in straight sets, battling back after a tough first set to drop a 6-1, 7-5 decision. In first doubles, the duo of senior captain Melanie Flaherty and junior Delaney Gillis dropped a 6-4, 6-2 decision.

While the team has been unable to find its way into the win column in recent weeks, coach Kevin Welch has been pleased with his team's continued effort and improvement.

"The girls continue to play better even though the results don't show it," Welch said. "Doubles have been playing better as a team. It shows they are listening and working hard to improve. Overall I am happy with the effort all the girls are putting in."

GIRLS TRACK

The very young Wilmington High School Girls Outdoor Track-and-Field team remained winless on the season with an 89-47 defeat to Middlesex League foe Wakefield, last Thursday afternoon before falling to Burlington 94-42 on Tuesday afternoon. The Wildcats are 0-6.

Against Wakefield, Wilmington won 6 of the 16 events on the day which accounted for 30 of the team's 47 points, as Wakefield really dominated in depth taking 89 of the following 106 points including sweeping three events.

Taking first place in their respective events for the Wildcats include: Savannah Hubbard in the 400 hurdles (72.5), Lauren Bennett with a state qualifying throw of 106-10 in the javelin, Michelle Barnes with a 62.9 time in the 400, Kelly Hartsough with a 2:28.3 time in the 800, Rachel Alatalo was clocked at 27.5 in the 200 and finally the 4x400 relay team went unopposed and came across with a combined time of 4:37.2.

Coming away with second places include Jessica Hogan in the long jump (13-8), Alatalo in the triple jump (29-11), Victoria Lee in the 100 hurdles (18.5) and Cali Pepper in the 400 (63.9). Rounding out the scoring with third places include Rachel Mellen in the 400 hurdles (79.1), Kate Cowden with a state qualifying throw in the shot put of 83-8), Jessica Marciello in the 100 (14.1) and Sydney Russo in the 800 (2:35.9).

In the loss to Burlington, Wilmington managed five first places including Kelly Hartsough taking both the mile (5:50.5) and the 800 (2:29.1) for a pretty exhilarating day. Hubbard captured the 400 hurdles coming across at 74.8 seconds, while Pepper took the 400 race at 63.8 seconds and the 4x400 relay team ran uncontested and came in at 5:17.7.

Taking three points each with second places include Kate Cowden in the shot put (29-1), Rachel Mellen in the 100 hurdles (18.8) and Michelle Barnes in the 400 (63.9), while third places were earned by Mellen in the 400 hurdles (80.7), Lauren Bennett in the javelin (94-10), Melanie Folk in the shot put (28-0), Sydney Russo in the triple jump (30-0), Cowden in the discus (80-8), Victoria Lee in the 100 hurdles (19.2), Nicole Romanzo in the 200 (29.4) and Keara MacCorkle in the two mile (13:25).

Despite record, softball team coming along

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

When it comes to high school softball, perhaps 90 percent of successful teams have a strong battery, one that not only can dominate the two positions, but experience in those two positions usually results in several wins alone for teams.

For the Wilmington High School team, they entered this season with no experience in either position, thus the team has been going through some growing pains. But if Monday night was any indication of what's to come in the future, these Wildcats won't have too much more growing to do.

Although the scoreboard said a 4-0 loss, the 4-7 Wildcats went toe-to-toe with Winchester, the No. 5 ranked team in the latest Boston Herald Division 2 North Poll. The game was scoreless after six innings as southpaw Megan Howland continued to throw offspeed pitches and junk to the Sachems batters keeping them off balance all night long. But in the top of the seventh, Winchester scored four times on two errors, a questionable call on a hits-batsman, a sacrifice bunt and four hits, including a big double down the line to come away with the win.

And while Winchester was held scoreless through the six innings before breaking the game open in the seventh, the Wildcats had all kinds of chances to break the door down themselves. All in all, the Wildcats stranded ten runners on base, including four in scoring position, had a runner thrown out at home in the first inning and another thrown out at third base in the third inning.

"We couldn't get the timely hit and we left too many runners on base," said head coach Audrey Cabral Pini. "And our bunting has been horrible all season long. Ever since I've been coaching, even at the JV level, we have always been able to get our bunts down, even with two strikes, and right now we're really struggling to put the bunts down. That was the difference, that and not getting timely hits. But I was pleased with the effort. The seventh inning, Megan got tired and we made a couple of mistakes but I'll definitely take that effort."

Winchester really couldn't get anything going off Howland in the early innings. The Sachems had a base runner on in each of the first four innings but really didn't threat. At the other end, Wilmington had all kinds of chances. In the bottom of the first, Jackie Kennedy reached on an error and after an infield hit by Jen Stewart, Emily Crannell laced a single to right field to load the bases. After a strikeout, Amanda Richards lofted a fly ball to center field but Kennedy was thrown out at home trying to tag for a huge double play.

Wilmington had runners at first and second with two out in the third after a walk to Stewart and a base hit by Alex Derian, but Stewart was easily out at third on a force out to end the inning. In the fourth, Wilmington had runners at first and second, after Kim Woods singled and stole second and Cassie Grasso walked, but another groundout ended that inning. Then Wilmington left a runner on first in the fifth inning, and then had first and second with no outs in the seventh but couldn't push those runners any further.

Right before that, Winchester struck for four runs, all unearned off Howland, who really pitched a beauty.

"Megan doesn't have the speed of the other kids but she's all about real estate, location, location and location," said Cabral Pini. "I thought she pitched great tonight, she really did. No one understands what we're going through. When you enter a season without any varsity experience at your pitcher and catcher positions, the whole battery, no experience, you're going to struggle and it's going to take a while to develop. That's huge. Plus we have started to switch some player around to different positions, trying to find the right mix, so that's tough."

Defensively Crannell played very well at shortstop, displaying her very strong and accurate arm and figuring in seven outs.

Also playing well with the glove was right fielder Kim Woods, who made several nice grabs, and also went 2-for-3 at the plate coming from the No. 8 spot in the order.

"Kim had a nice day - couple of hits and a couple of nice catches," said Cabral Pini. "That's big for Kim because (assistant coach) Walter (Babcock) and I changed her approach at the plate. She was way up on the handle of the bat and she was striking out too much, so now we moved her hands so she has better control of the bat so that seemed to help her tonight."

Earlier in the week the Wildcats dropped Belmont 12-3, behind six strong innings by Ashley White, who earned the win. She struck out four and gave up three runs. She was helped out offensively by Crannell, who had two hits and drove in three runs and Stewart, who also went 2-for-4.

Football Playoff vote coming soon

Bruins could be leaving Ristuccia Arena

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

According to various websites and television stations, the Boston Bruins could be on the verge of leaving Wilmington's Ristuccia Arena. The Bruins, the reigning Stanley Cup Champions, have been using the Ristuccia Arena for its practice facility dating back to 1986 when the rink opened, after the town of Wilmington went several years without a rink after closing the one down in North Wilmington.

In a press conference held last Thursday, Bruins' President Cam Neely sat with the team's owners and management and discussed the possibility of the B's finding a new practice facility home.

"[We're] in discussions with [Ristuccia Arena] right now," said Neely during the press conference.

Currently there is one year left on the current contract with the Ristuccia Arena, headed by Bob Rotondo.

Back in 2009, the Bruins were in serious talks with the town of Stoneham, to relocate to its arena off of Montvale Ave. That proposal would have been an additional 20,000 square foot addition to the current arena with state of the art facilities, however talks with the Bruins and Stoneham Town Officials broke down.

Since then, there have been rumors swirling that the Bruins would be interested in the new practice facility that's being proposed in Brighton. The rink would be part of a $235 million development project that's being proposed by New Balance to completely redevelop the Brighton Landing area around their Guest Street headquarters, said CNN's Joe Haggerty.

Apparently the Bruins would like to be closer to the TD Garden, as well as have "a more state-of-the-art facility" much like league rivals Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs currently have. Bruins' principal owner Charlie Jacobs didn't echo Neely's words that the Bruins and Ristuccia are in discussing any contract extensions.

"Cam and I have been collaborating a bit on what should be the best facility for us moving forward," said Jacobs. "We've batted it around and considered Wilmington a bit and obviously also explored some other locations. We like to think of our training facility and practice facilities as a drawing card for players that might be playing on other markets and look at us and say, 'Geez, I'd love to come to Boston, not only for the atmosphere, but for the environment', and the day-to-day environment where they practice."

"The practice facility really does need to be, if you will, world class in that regard. So, we've put [together], for lack of better term, a blue-ribbon committee to say, 'Let's try to find the right location that's within very short driving distance to the Boston Garden that could offer that kind of environment, that kind of ice and training facility.'

"We're in the process of that now. We don't have any final answers to share with you today, other than saying we've done a lot of work on this subject. I think we're drawing to a real good conclusion."

Attempts to reach Bob Rotondo for comment were unsuccessful.

Peterson pitching very well

Wilmington resident Stephen Peterson is doing quite well in his second year of professional baseball. The lefty is pitching for the Milwaukee Brewers Single A Affiliate the Wisconsin Timber Rattlers this season, after his debut last year with the Milwaukee Brewers A Team out of Arizona.

Thus far Peterson has appeared in 10 games for the Rattlers, all in relief. He has an 1-0 record with a 1.62 ERA with one save. In 16.2 innings, he's given up just 13 hits, three earned runs while walking four and striking out 17.

"(I) had a great spring training, and the season has been going well," said Peterson through an email. "(I'm) looking forward to a successful year."

Last year Peterson finished the half season with a 1-2 record and a 3.00 ERA. While pitching in 14 games, Peterson tossed 27 innings, giving up just eight walks and striking out 32.

Peterson grew up in Wilmington and attended St. John's Prep in Danvers. He had a brilliant career for the Prep, never losing a decision, and going 8-0 with an 1.00 ERA as a senior, which included being named a Boston Herald All-Scholastic and the Division 1 North tournament MVP. He also was 2-0 with an ERA under 1.00 as a junior.

After his senior year in high school, he earned a full athletic scholarship to pitch at Marist College in Poughkeepsie, New York. In 2007, he appeared in 13 games, started 11 and finished with a 3-3 record and a 4.77 ERA throwing 54.2 innings. In 2008, he pitched in 12 games, started nine and finished with a 1-5 record. In 2009, he transferred to Rhode Island University and sat out that athletic season. Then in September of that year he had 'Tommy John' surgery on his left elbow, and came back at 100 percent exactly a year later.

Last year, he was a perfect 6-0 for Rhode Island, pitching in the Atlantic-10 Conference. He tossed two complete game shut outs, and led the team in ERA at 3.06. He also led the team in strikeouts with 69, held batters to a lowly .231 batting average and earned All-Conference and All-New England honors. Then at the annual New England

Intercollegiate Baseball All-Star game played at LeLacheur Park in Lowell, he was named the Pitcher of the Game, after allowing just one hit over two scoreless innings.

Football Alignment Possibility

According to the Boston Herald, the MIAA Football Committee is planning on meeting next Wednesday to vote on the potential future playoff alignments.

According to the Herald, the new plan calls for teams to play seven weeks of regular season games and then after that would be three weeks of games, for both playoff teams and non-playoff teams, followed by a week off and the Thanksgiving Game. In addition, there would be three weeks of post season games with quarterfinals, semifinals and a state championship game to be held in Week 11.

According to the alignment plan, both Wilmington and Tewksbury would fall under "Division 3 Northeast" and Shawsheen Tech would fall into "Division 5".

Wilmington currently has 471 boys in its school and Tewksbury has 460, and they would join fellow schools Revere (766), Somerville (723), Salem (637), Masconomet (632), Beverly (580), Dracut (558), Gloucester (548), Danvers (486), Marblehead (478) and Bedford (398) in the Division 3 Northeast Conference. None of Wilmington's Middlesex League opponents would fall in that division, and only one of Tewksbury's Merrimack Valley Conference foes fall in the division that being Dracut.

The Division 3 Northwest Conference is made up of mostly Middlesex League teams including Woburn (651), Arlington (600), Belmont (532), Winchester (527), Burlington (505), Melrose (459) and Wakefield (457) who would join Medford (683), Concord-Carlisle (570), Boston Latin (672), Arlington Catholic (344) and Wayland (436).

In Division 5, Shawsheen, which has approximately 786 boys, would join Bishop Fenwick (211), Austin Prep (210), Matignon (206), Manchester-Essex (227), East Boston (736), Madison Park (726), Northeast Regional (717), Georgetown (210), Whittier Tech (694), Chelsea (679), Brighton (645), Greater Lawrence (629) and Pope John (144).

Parsons decides

Wilmington High School senior and All-Scholastic running back John Parsons has decided recently that he will be playing football next season for the University of Central Connecticut. This past year, Parsons rushed for 1,384 yards including 15 touchdowns and added 126 receiving yards and three scores, as well as two special teams' scores for 20 total touchdowns.

Since 1989, the Jimmy Fund Walk has raised nearly $80 million for Dana-Farber.

The Jimmy Fund Walk, a one-day charity walk that supports all cancers at Dana-Farber, gives participants a unique opportunity to walk the historic Boston Athletic Association's (BAA) Boston Marathon route and to raise money for Dana-Farber. The BAA has supported the Jimmy Fund Walk for 24 years.

Little League round-up

Major League Baseball A's 2 Tigers 2

Great game as the A's and Tigers clashed in a battle of undefeated teams. Bobby Lord and Tommy Worob blanked the Tigers through fourinnings pitching out of jams in each inning.

The A's played great defense making play after play and stranding nine Tigers on base over the first four innings. The A's got to Graham Smith for a run in the third with Tommy Robarge scoring on a single to centerfield by Ryan Collins. The A's tallied another run in the fourth when David Silvera scored on Dylan Bresnahan's single. Graham Smith went 4 innings recording eight strikeouts.

The Tigers tied the game with two runs in the top of the fifth. After a lineup to second by Kevin O'Donnell, Graham Smith, who had two hits on the night, reached first on a single and advanced to third on an error. Smith scored on a hit by Connor Griffin, who then scored from third on an infield groundout by Andrew Dalio. Connor Griffin worked a scoreless fifth with the game halted because of darkness with the score tied 2-2. This game will be continued on Tuesday, May 22nd.

White Sox 3, Twins 0
Rotary Park has seen some great baseball games so far this season, and Wednesday night was no exception as Chris Greco of the White Sox took a no-hitter into the sixth inning before Ben Maynard of the Twins ripped a sharp single to center field while down to his team's last strike. That would be the only hit the White Sox allowed in route to a 3-0 victory over the Twins. Greco went the distance, striking out nine, while only walking four. He was supported by great defensive plays at second by Connor MacKenzie, and in center field by Tommy Strow.

The Sox got all of their three runs in the third inning, getting hits from Jason Spizuocco, Joe Ribiero, MacKenzie, and Greco. Darren LeBlanc, Brendon Pierce, and J.T. Murray also contributed to the hit parade. Maynard was equally as sharp on the mound, for the Twins as he held the hard hitting Sox to just six hits, striking out ten, and not walking anyone, in his strong five innings of work.

Red Sox 11, Orioles 9
On Thursday night the Red Sox got off to an early lead with hits from Kevin Mallinson (2 hits), Josh Bartnicki (2 hits), Ryan Barrett, and Michael Santini and never looked back in route to an 11-9 victory over the Orioles at Rotary Park. The Sox received solid pitching from Josh Bartnicki and Chris Stokes who pitched three scoreless innings, striking out six without giving up a hit.

The Orioles got hits from Billy McEvoy, Michael Daley, Justin Trevesani, Patrick Flaherty, and Conor Kilbride. The O's also got great pitching from Jonathan Sears pitching three innings in relief striking out four.

Indians 9, Yankees 7

The Indians were led to victory over the Yankees 9-7 on Friday night by the 11-year old pitching duo of Tim Kippenberger and Kyle Bolis, both making their Major League debut. Each pitcher threw three solid innings and were aided by an Indians defense, lead by catcher A.J. McKeeney, that cut down two runners at home plate. Riley Zaya lead the offense with two hits. Tate Kennedy, Cole Russell, Scott Burke and Jack Boyle all drove in runs in a big five run, fourth inning.

The Yankees were led by the pitching of Jason Dunn, who went four innings striking out nine. Offense was provided by Zach Dancewicz and Danny Woads who each drove in two runs.

Tigers 9, Yankees 0

Connor Griffin pitcher 5.1 scoreless innings allowing two hits and striking out 12, leading the Tigers over the Yankees 9-0 Saturday morning. Richie McNamara recorded the last two outs in relief. The Tigers scored two

Two Wilmington residents honored

Two Wilmington residents, Cathy Beers and Bob Mayo, were recently honored as Pacesetters for the 2011 Boston Marathon* Jimmy Fund Walk presented by Hyundai. The Pacesetters collectively raised more than $19,000 of the nearly $7 million in the 2011 Jimmy Fund Walk, which benefits adult and pediatric cancer research and care at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute.

Pacesetters are dedicated walkers who are committed to raising at least $1,250 for Dana-Farber. In 2011, nearly 1,300 of the 8,500 walkers achieved Pacesetter status. On March 25, the 2011 Pacesetters were recognized at the Jimmy Fund Walk's

Extra Mile Brunch at the Boston Marriott Copley Place.

Pacesetters are the fundraising "stars" of the event. To achieve Star Pacesetter recognition, walkers must raise $1,250; Two-Star Pacesetters raise $2,500; Three-Star Pacesetters raise $5,000 and walkers who raise $10,000 achieve Four-Star Pacesetter status. Young Pacesetters are children age 12 and younger who raise at least $500.

The 24th annual Jimmy Fund Walk will take place on Sunday, Sept 9 and aims to raise more than $7.5 million. Nearly 9,000 people are expected to participate.

Baseball team falls to 5-6

Bats go silent in latest two games

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

In a span of 14 innings, the Wilmington High School Baseball team has managed to score just three runs and have combined for just nine hits. Throughout that time, the pitching staff has given up just four earned runs, yet the Wildcats dropped a pair of Middlesex League games to Large School opponents Belmont, 3-1, and then Winchester 4-2 at home on Monday. The 0-2 week pushes the team behind the .500 line at 5-6 overall.

"For some reason our offense has left us the last few games," said head coach Aldo Caira. "We haven't been able to put any hits together. The bats just didn't move today and that was the big problem."

Despite the 5-6 overall record, the Wildcats are 4-1 against ML Small School teams and are right in the thick of things for the top prize. But with the way the team has been hitting, those chances could quickly slip away.

"For some reason (the kids) have stopped hitting," said Caira. "They have been aggressive and they have been swinging, just nothing is happening. Either we are popping it up or lining out to a double play and it's just not there right now. Against Belmont, Cole (Peffer) hit a ball that probably went 350 feet to right-center field (and was caught) but with last year's bat, that ball would have gone 400 feet and over the fence for a home run. But you got to play with what you got."

"We're still there. We have our own destiny in our own hands so if we beat the teams we beat the first time around, and if we get a little lucky against Melrose where we weren't lucky the first time we faced them, we have an opportunity to do something and that's what we're looking for."

After collecting just three hits in the 3-1 loss to Belmont, the Wildcats took on a 6-5 Winchester club at home on Monday. Winchester struck first with a run in the top of the first thanks to a pair of hits, and then Wilmington tied it up in the home half of the second inning on a delay double steal with Dalton Rolli coming in from third after Joe Russell beat the throw down to second base.

Wilmington junior righty Colin Doherty settled down nicely after giving up the first inning run by facing the minimum six batters over the course of the next two innings. After a lead off walk in the second, he was helped out by a double play started by Peffer at first, and then got two groundouts and a strikeout in the third.

In the top of the fourth, Winchester strung together two more hits and a run to go up 2-1. Then in the fifth, Doherty started to fatigue, walking the first two batters, with all of his pitches sailing high.

"You can't walk guys when they are trying to give you an out and I had to pull him because he was throwing balls," said Caira on Doherty, a very good three-sport athlete. "He has struggled this season but we were hoping to get four innings out of him today and he certainly gave us four solid innings."

With runners at first and second and no outs, sophomore Mike Curtis was called on to relieve Doherty. He gave up a sacrifice bunt, before the a run came in on a RBI groundout making it 3-1. Another RBI groundout drove in the second run of the inning and Winchester led 4-1 after four at bats.

Wilmington, meanwhile, couldn't get anything going offensively. Russell was stranded at second in the second inning and then Doherty singled, stole second and advanced to third on the wild throw, all coming with the bases empty and two outs, but was stranded at the hot corner when Russell grounded out. Wilmington went in order in the fifth, had a single in the sixth by Tim Woods but a line out double play ended that threat.

With the score still 4-1, Brendan McDonough relieved Curtis in the top of the seventh and he gave up a two out walk in his scoreless frame. Then in the bottom of the seventh, Wilmington did make things interesting as Rolli led off the inning by hustling down first base to beat out an infield error. After a pop up, Russell got hit by a pitch. After another pop up, Derek Favuzza singled over shortstop to drive in Rolli before the threat ended with another groundout.

Of the 27 outs off the Wilmington bats, 15 of them came failed to get out of the infield.

In the loss to Belmont, Tim Woods was the hard luck losing pitcher as he went the distance giving up four hits, three unearned runs, while striking out ten batters. Offensively, Wilmington had just three hits as McDonough had a triple and Dan Pothier had a double.

"We gave that game away too as we gave up three unearned runs, and then I think we only had three hits," said Caira.

Wilmington will be back in action with three games against ML Small School opponents starting with a night game Friday at Watertown before coming home to face Melrose and Wakefield on Monday and Wednesday.

PUBLIC NOTICES

Every day throughout the United States newspapers publish thousands of public notices about events, conditions or actions that affect countless individuals, families, neighborhoods and businesses. Public notices cover many topics including guardianships, conservatorships and protective orders, probating wills, business matters, liquor licensing, public auctions and sales, estates, zoning, public meetings, bids to sell goods and services to the government, auctions to dispose of surplus government equipment, local government finances and state and local elections. The public notice is a fundamental component of our system of representative democracy, which depends upon the participation of educated, responsible citizens.

Mite Hockey team takes home MVC Cup title

The Breakaway Ice Center was the sight of the Mite level MVC Cup tournament this past weekend. Teams from around the Merrimack Valley would battle for the title. Twelve of Wilmington's best mite level players from various teams in the area came together as one to represent the town. Wilmington drew Andover, Greater Salem and Masco in the preliminary round, easily the toughest qualification group of the three.

The Andover game was a back and forth affair with each team gaining a one goal advantage at one point during the game. Aiden O'Connell had a hat trick with Matt Ardito and Matt Vinal each lighting the lamp once. Meanwhile the defense of Brendan Ardito and Jack Farrell helped secure a 5-4 victory for the Wildcats.

The second qualification game was against Greater Salem. The Wildcats opened up the floodgates, managing to get eight behind the goalie while Sam Cedrone shut the door on all but one, final score being 8-1. Outstanding efforts by Colin Sainato and Owen White as well as a hat trick by Nolan Vigeant and two goals by Riley Fitzgerald was coupled with great defense by Aidan Elkins and AJ Lavigne.

The third qualification game was against tournament favorite Masconomet, with several players wearing their Valley Jr. Warrior socks with their Masco jerseys. This was a battle to advance to Sunday's playoff; both teams being undefeated. The game started with one way traffic in Wilmington's favor.

After one period, the score was 1-0 Wildcats. Midway through the second period it was 3-0. However, Masco got things going with a goal at the end of the second period and managed two more in the third, resulting in a hard fought 3-3 draw. With 2 wins and a draw each, both teams would advance to the next round, a double elimination 12 minute period playoff with four teams left competing.

Sunday started with the Wildcats playing against a 3-0 Reading team, who earned their No. 1 seed for the playoff round by beating Tewksbury, Greater Haverhill and Billerica. The game was tightly played, with both teams unwilling to give an inch. In the end, a nice goal by Aiden O'Connell and a shutout by Sam Cedrone and the rest of the defense secured the victory. The second game was against the same Masco team from the night before. Again, a tightly contested matchup resulted in a 2-1 victory by the Wildcats, with goals by O'Connell and Vigeant.

The championship game was yet another rematch of the Masco game from earlier in the day and the night before, as they beat Greater Salem to advance to the final game. The Wildcats gave up an early goal but were able to keep the game close and tied things up at one goal apiece with just under three minutes left. The clock winds down and we're headed for a 5 minute sudden death overtime. With a little over a minute gone, the Wildcats scored a nice goal by O'Connell, leading to sticks and gloves in the air and a pile of kids on the ice in celebration.

Thanks to the coaches for their hard work this weekend: Mike Vinal, Craig Conway, Dan White, Dave Sainato and Andy Lavigne. Also a special thanks to the parents and friends in attendance who helped push the Cats ahead when they needed a boost.

Shawsheen Tech Sports Round-Up

Baseball team enjoying magical season

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech Baseball team narrowly missed out on a state tournament berth last season, losing their final game of the season to fall just one win short of the nine they needed to qualify for post season play.

There will be no such drama and no such heart-break for the Rams this season, however, as they have put together a sensational season so far, and this past week clinched a state tournament berth with a 4-0 win over Mystic Valley last Thursday that improved them to 9-2 on the season and also kept them in contention for the CAC Large championship.

For Shawsheen coach Jim Sullivan and his squad, clinching the state tournament berth is just the first step in what they hope will be a very special season.

"Last year was a tough way to end the season," Sullivan said. "It was great to get it out of our system early this year so we can focus on our next goal which is to win the league and we are going to do our best to accomplish that."

Just the day before the Rams had missed an opportunity to clinch when they dropped a hard fought 8-7 decision to Greater Lawrence in nine innings, but they bounced nicely behind an outstanding pitching effort from senior left hander Austin Cummings who tossed a complete game seven hitter, striking out six batters along the way.

It was the second straight outstanding start for Cummings, who last week pitched the Rams to a complete game win over Greater Lowell, but Sullivan felt that he was even better in this one, stepping up big time for the Rams when they needed him, coming off the tough loss the day before.

"This was his best game of the year so far," Sullivan said. "He stayed around the strike zone and kept his pitch count down, and pitched a great game. And the team played real well behind him."

Leading the way offensively for the Rams was Cory Suprey who had three hits and an RBI. Sullivan was happy to see Suprey, the Rams leadoff hitter, break out in this one and hopes it is a sign of things to come.

"We are hoping this is the start of a good run for Cory," Sullivan said. "He does a nice job of getting on base for us and setting up our other hitters, but he wielded a heavy bat in this one and hopefully he can keep it up."

Paul DePlacido added a pair of hits and an RBI for the Rams, while Tewksbury's Joe Sodergren and Wilmington's Steve Reynolds each added an RBI.

Sodergren also had three hits and three RBI's the day before in the 8-7 loss to Greater Lowell, continuing what has been an incredible hot streak for him. Joe Vitale of Wilmington added three hits and a pair of RBI in the loss while Frank Murray of Wilmington also added two hits, but it was not enough as the Rams suffered their second nine inning loss of the season despite making a valiant seventh inning comeback.

"We started off uncharacteristically slow, and dug ourselves a pretty big hole and we just could not dig our way all the way out of it," Sullivan said.

The Rams did almost complete the remarkable comeback, scoring a run to tie the game in the top of the seventh on consecutive singles by Cummings, Murray and DePlacido. While disappointed his team was not able to come away with a win, Sullivan was not at all disappointed with the team's effort.

"There was absolutely no quite in them," Sullivan said. "They were not happy with the way they were playing and they took it upon themselves to get back in the game and they did it. That showed a lot of character."

Bowse was outstanding on the mound for the Rams, coming in in relief and tossing five shutout innings to give the Rams a chance to come back before finally surrendering a run in the ninth. Sullivan was impressed but not surprised by Bowse's ability to come in in relief rather than in his usual starting role.

"He did a great job for us. He took over on the mound and stopped the bleeding and kept us in the game," Sullivan said. "For him it was no big deal to come on in relief. He is a versatile and talented player and we have asked him to do a lot of things for us this year."

GIRLS LAX

The Shawsheen Girls Lacrosse team is closing in on a state tournament berth of their own after a week that saw them go 1-0-1 and improve to 6-2-1 on the season with just four games left in the regular season.

The Lady Rams started their week off last Friday with a 15-15 tie with Lowell, a game in which they fought back from a seven goal deficit in the final eight minutes to earn the tie, an they capped off their week on Monday with a 13-4 thrashing of Essex Aggie in road game that put them on the brink of the state tournament.

Against Essex Aggie, senior defender Jill Canniff led the way for the Lady Rams with three goals while senior midfielder Kim Barriss as well as junior attack Kaitlyn Gordon and junior midfielder Kelsey Farraher, both of Tewksbury, added a pair of goals each.

Sophomore midfielder Rachel McLaren of Wilmington added a pair of goals, while senior attack Marissa Irwin and sophomore attack Erin Elliot added a goal apiece for Shawsheen, which led 8-1 at the half.

Shawsheen coach Maggie Joyce was pleased with her team's overall performance, especially having so many players contribute to the win.

"Our defense was outstanding today," Joyce said. "Everyone was where they needed to be at the right time. We played as a team offensively, having seven different girls score. We played well overall."

The Shawsheen attack was not quite as consistent against Lowell, as the Lady Rams found themselves in a deep hole as time wound down in the second half. But led by the efforts of Emily and Marissa Irwin, who combined for seven goals on the day, Shawsheen fought back to earn the tie.

"We didn't come out to until the second half-actually, the last six or so minutes," Joyce said. "We were down by about seven goals with eight minutes left. We turned up some serious heat in those last few minutes and pulled away with a tie. I'll take it."

The combination of the Irwin sisters, the veteran Marissa, and the newcomer Emily has proven to be a fearsome combination for opponents to deal with, and their effort against Lowell was just the latest example of their fine play.

"Individually, they both are amazing lacrosse players," Joyce said. "Emily has speed and intensity and Marissa has game sense and poise. Mixed together they are a dangerous combination."

CO-ED TRACK

Both the Boys and Girls Spring Track teams at Shawsheen Tech are in the midst of outstanding seasons, with the boys posting a perfect 9-0 mark thus far and the girls with a nearly as impressive 8-1 mark.

Recently both teams rolled to dominant victories at Greater Lawrence with the boys picking up an 88-48 win and the girls even more dominant with a 104-25 rout.

On the boys side the Rams were led by several outstanding performances, starting with Chris Salvo who picked up wins in both the 400 meter low hurdles in a time of 64.52 and the 110 meter high hurdles in a time of 19.35. Tyler McInnis was another multiple winner for the Rams taking the javelin with a throw of 115' while also winning the 400 meters in a time of 58.45.

The Rams had a very strong day in the field events up and down their lineup with Matt Milano taking the shot put with a throw of 34-11, while Adam Oliver took the discus with a throw of 105'5. Shawsheen swept the jumping events with Andy Maga taking the long jump with a leap of 18'5, while Marck Clerveau took the triple jump and Brett Chartinez won the high jump with a height of 5'0.

The running events went equally well for the Rams with senior Andrew Dascoli winning the 100 meters in 11.3 seconds and Kyle Bradenese won the 200 meters in 26.02 seconds. The longer distances also went well for the Rams with T.J. Barriss captured the mile in a time of 5:18 and Ryan Tirabassi took the two mile in 11:07.

While the boys are undefeated to this point, coach Jay Tildsley knows his team's toughest meets are still to come with undefeated Chelsea and Greater Lowell on tap for this week.

"We haven't been able to beat Chelsea for almost five years. We need to definitely use that motivation going into Wednesday's meet," Tildsley said. "Greater Lowell is after that and they both teams are going to be tough to beat. This week will be a deciding factor in this year's team character."

"We must keep our sites on Chelsea and then worry about the league picture after that meet. One meet at a time is our motto this year. We have even surprised ourselves on how well we have done this year."

On the girls side, the Lady Rams rolled to victory behind several multiple winners including junior Kristen Carroll of Tewksbury with took the long jump with a leap of 12'9 and the triple jump with a distance of 28'0. Carroll also took the 400 meter low hurdles in a time of 81.33.

Senior Erin Plunkett captured all three throwing events, taking the shot put with a throw of 19'10, the discus with a toss of 53'6 and the javelin with a throw of 66'2. Plunkett also won the 400 meters in a time of 67.76, and the 110 meter high hurdles in a time of 18.68.

Other multiple winners for Shawsheen were Hailey Lynch in the high jump with a height of 4'2 and in the 100 meters with a time of 13.9 and Valerie Whiskey in the 800 with a time of 3:26.00 and the 200 in a time of 34.6.

Ashley Lynch captured the one mile for the Lady Rams in a time of 7:11 while Alicia DellAnno took the two mile in a time of 17:14.

"The girls are having a fantastic year," Tildsley said. "We are competitive and getting better each meet. All of the girls who started are still with us. We will need to step up our game against Greater Lowell and Chelsea."

BOYS LAX

The Shawsheen Boys Lacrosse team (10-2, 9-0) is closing in on their fifth straight CAC title, picking up another league win this week with a 15-2 rout of North Shore at home on Monday afternoon.

Junior attack Ryan Capraro had three goals and three assists in the win to give him 23 goals on the season to go along with 21 assists. Sophomore Alec Dell Anno had two goals and three assists and junior attack Scott Dennehy had three goals and one assist to help pace the Rams, who have now won six in a row.

The Rams had a well balanced scoring attack, as they got a goal and two assists from senior midfielder Lenny Houghton and single goals from Jay Rossetti, Joe Ferri, Nick Peacock, Nolan Gaffey. Keenan Beraldi and Darren Rania.

Senior Rich Etter played made seven saves on seven shots to earn the win while Matt DeMaio also saw some time in net for the Rams, who led 11-0 at the half and 15-0 at the end of three quarters.

In their previous game last Wednesday, also at Cassidy

Field the Rams picked up a 12-2 non-league victory over Dracut, once again led by a balanced scoring attack as seven different Rams tallied goals.

Junior attack Rich Hunt of Wilmington led the way for the Rams with four goals, giving him a team and league leading 43 for the season, while Capraro and Peacock each added a pair of goals with Capraro also adding three assists.

Tallying single goals for the Rams, who led 7-0 at the half were senior midfielder Tom Price, Rossetti, Beraldi and Houghton. Beraldi also added four assists.

SOFTBALL

The Shawsheen Softball team clinched a spot in the Division 3 State Tournament this past week with a 12-4 rout of Greater Lawrence last Wednesday afternoon on the road in their only game of the week.

The win improved the Lady Rams record on the season to 10-2 overall, while they are still very much in contention for a fourth consecutive CAC Large title with an 8-1 record in the league, leaving them one game behind front running Whittier.

Catcher Jamie Ray led the way for Shawsheen offensively with two hits, including a home run and three RBI's. Emily Knoops of Tewksbury also added a pair of hits and three RBI's for the winners.

Senior first baseman Jen Curtis had two hits and two RBI's, while Fran Pesantes and Stephanie Champoux of Tewksbury, along Kennedy Harper, also had two hits each for Shawsheen who scored three runs in the top of the first and never looked back, putting the game away with a four run outburst in the sixth inning.

Junior pitcher Emily Hamilton of Tewksbury got the win for the Lady Rams, going four innings and allowing just one run while striking out three to improve to 6-1 on the season. Meredith Bonugli allowed two earned runs over the final three innings to earn the save for Shawsheen.

Cabral heading to Texas and Harris heading to Regionals

By KAYTI BURT
Sports Correspondent

Manny Cabral, of Tewksbury, is heading to Texas with the Northern Essex Community College Knights for the Division III Junior College World Series. The Knights clinched the Region 21 championship in Brockton last weekend after finishing the season 28-7. The team will bring their 20-game winning streak to Texas for the double-elimination national championship tournament, held May 19th to May 25th in

MANNY CABRAL

Tyler, Texas.

Cabral, a catcher for the team, scored the winning run in the Knight's second round victory in the Region 21 championship series. He was named All-Region First Team and Defensive Player of the year, and has been invited to apply for the Cape League. He also played third base for Tewksbury Memorial High School two years ago.

Mike Rocco, of Tewksbury, was named NECC Coach of the Year. Rocco was selected to establish the baseball program last year, recruiting and establishing the foundation of a team that he would lead to an 8-26 record, including four conference victories, in its second year. The distinction was awarded to Rocco by vote of his peers. The Lesley squad was also awarded the NECC Team Sportsmanship Award. Check out next week's paper for an in-depth feature on Rocco.

Rob Wallace, of Tewksbury, helped lead the Colby Sawyer baseball team to the NEAC Conference tournament finals this spring. The Chargers ultimately fell to Castleton State, but finished the season with a 20-22 record. Catcher Wallace threw out 37 percent of base stealers and committed only two errors, hitting .295 and leading the team in sacrifice hits in conference play.

Nick Boutoures, of Wilmington, pitched a perfect inning of relief in UMass Lowell's season-ending 2-1 loss to UMass Lowell Sunday. The River Hawks finished the season 26-20-1 overall and 14-14-1 in conference play. Boutoures finished the year with 13.2 innings pitched and a 5.27 ERA.

Junior Ron Wallace, of Tewksbury, Rob's brother, delivered a key strikeout for the UMass baseball team in their 3-1 victory against Richmond last Friday. Wallace came in during the bottom of the fifth with bases loaded and two outs and preserved the 2-1 lead. The Minutemen record stands at 19-7 overall and 11-7 in the Atlantic-10.

Redshirt-junior Scott Oberg, of Tewksbury, pitched a career-long 5.2 innings out of the bullpen for UConn, leading the Huskies to a 6-4 win in 13 innings of play against Cincinnati on Sunday. Oberg struck out 11 batters, another career-high, in the effort, which improved UConn's record to 26-21 overall and 14-7 in the Big East.

In softball, Wilmington's Leanne Harris' season with the Salem State softball team continues after she coached the team to the MASCAC championship last week. Going into the tournament, the Lady Vikings were seeded third (they finished the season tied for second). They lost the first game of the tournament, but went on to four consecutive victories to clinch the championship. They move onto the NCAA

LEANNE HARRIS

Championship Regionals, where they are seeded seventh, starting on Thursday. They will face the second-seeded Tufts University at Eastern Connecticut State in their first game.

This is Salem State's second NCAA Tournament appearance in the last three years. Sophomore Lauren DiCredico, of Tewksbury, pitches and plays outfield for the team.

Salem State defeated Westfield State in the finals, ending the season for Tewksbury-natives Lisa Policelli and Katie Moore. Policelli, a senior for the Owls, slammed her first career homerun in the previous game of the tournament with a solo shot to left in the seventh inning of Westfield State's 2-0 semi-finals victory over Bridgewater State.

Senior Leah Maciejewski, of Tewksbury, was named to the Capital One Academic All-District Softball Team for Division III. This makes her eligible for selection as a College Sports Information Directors of America All-American later this month. Bates average .391 with two homeruns and 23 RBI this season, helping the team to a 18-2 record (which tied the program's record for most season victories).

In track-and-field, a pair of Tewksbury athletes helped clinch the Northeast-10 Conference Championship for UMass Lowell Saturday. Sophomore Stephanie Walker placed seventh in the 100-meter hurdles, finishing in 16:07. Sophomore Karie Judge sprinted the first leg of the 4x800 meter relay team in 2:18. The team completed the relay in 9:32:78 to earn second place.

An injured Evan White, of Tewksbury, was unable to compete in the Northeast-10 Conference for the men's UMass Lowell team.

"We're missing five of our top eight or nine athletes," said head coach Gary Gardner in a press release last week. "We're missing the best 200 and 400 runner in the conference in Evan. All in all, we are probably missing around 70 points, so we're hoping for third or fourth place." The team placed third in the tournament.

Kristen Judge, of Tewksbury and Karie's sister, helped the University of Pennsylvania women's track team to a fifth place finish in the 2012 Outdoor Heptagonal Championship Sunday. Judge finished third in the high jump, clearing 1.73 meters (five feet, eight inches).

Leanne Tucker, of Tewksbury, placed 17th in the 800 meters on the second day of competition at the Big East Outdoor Track and Field Championship on Saturday. The Villanova freshman crossed the finish line in 2:13:18.

Freshman Andrea Caprio, of Tewksbury, finished fifth in javelin for WPI in the Division III New England Championships last weekend. Caprio threw for 128-4, helping the college to a 15th place finish overall.

Wrestler Mike Willey, of Tewksbury, earned a Plymouth State University Panther Award on Sunday. The award is presented to an individual from each of the 19 PSU athletic teams who best represents the university on the field, in the classroom, and in the community. The senior Management major was 24-6 overall on the season.

The past week was a big race for local runners. In addition to local events - the 2nd annual Women of Wilmington's 5K/Walk for Kim Forte and Tewksbury's Run T.H.E. Farm 5K (see accompanying stories) - there were numerous opportunities for both Wilmington and Tewksbury residents to stretch their legs.

Chris Barczah, of Wilmington, was the only local representative in the To BSC and Back Weekly 5K in Woburn last Tuesday. He completed the race in 25:28, earning 8th place.

Carnac the Magnificent Predict Your Time 5K in Lowell on Tuesday saw 11 Tewksbury runners and two Wilmington residents take to the course. The Tewksbury runners included: Brian Ristuccia (23:51:01, 80th), Angie Anderson (24:05:38, 89th), Kim Budryk (24:05:38, 90th), Bill McCarthy (24:55:62, 112th), Joel Clabeaux (26:23:58, 140th), Ed Morrison (26:26:41, 144th), Mireille Imbeau (29:20:93, 195th), Marianne Sullivan (30:36:93, 219th), Christina Ristuccia (30:35:55, 22nd), Judy Murphy (31:31:34, 237th), and Paula Cullen (33:02:16, 259th).

Robin Kanter and Pete Lanzi, both of Wilmington, finished the race in 32:04:78 (246th) and 32:17:15 (247th), respectively.

Tony LaRosa, of Wilmington, finished the Three-o de Mayo 2.6 Mile Run last Thursday in Cambridge. LaRosa completed the race in 19:16, earning him a 9th place finish.

Cynthia Berry represented Tewksbury in the Steps for the Steeple Fun Run/Walk on Saturday in Chelmsford. Berry ran the race in 31:08, earning a 12th place finish.

Brian Roberts, of Wilmington, finished third on the CMS 52-Week 5K Series Race No. 18 at Worcester State University on Saturday. Roberts completed the course in 20:36.

Two local runners made it to the Miles for Hope 5K in Boston on Saturday. Michelle O'Donnell, of Wilmington, finished in 28:37, earning a 59th place finish. Lorena Prinziavalli, also of Wilmington, finished in 29:20 for a 72nd place finish.

Leah Leduc was the only local runner to race in Lowell's CAA River 5K Run on Saturday. Leduc placed 57th, finishing the race in 36:38.

The Boston Marine Corps Honor Run 5K saw five local runners compete on Saturday. Tewksbury residents included: Linda Jennings (20:50, 56th), Kim Lannon (33:00, 815th), and Eileen Bradley (37:55, 956th). From Wilmington, Karen Keane placed 343rd with a time of 26:41 with Mary Sullivan coming in 533rd in 29:00.

Six Wilmington residents ran in the Kick In for Kids 4.24 Mile Road Race in Woburn on Sunday. They included: Catherine Banda (31:06, 19th), Jared Wright (31:35, 26th), Emily Olson (33:24, 53rd), John Skinner (35:01, 70th), Matt Dizio (40:51, 70th), and Jean Olson (46:37, 209th). Stephanie Jeannette, of Tewksbury, finished 174th with a time of 41:59.

Carolyn Crowley, of Wilmington, finished the 8th Annual Exercise for Education 5K Run or Walk in Burlington on Sunday in 33:44. That time earned her 131st place.

Youth Lax wrap ups

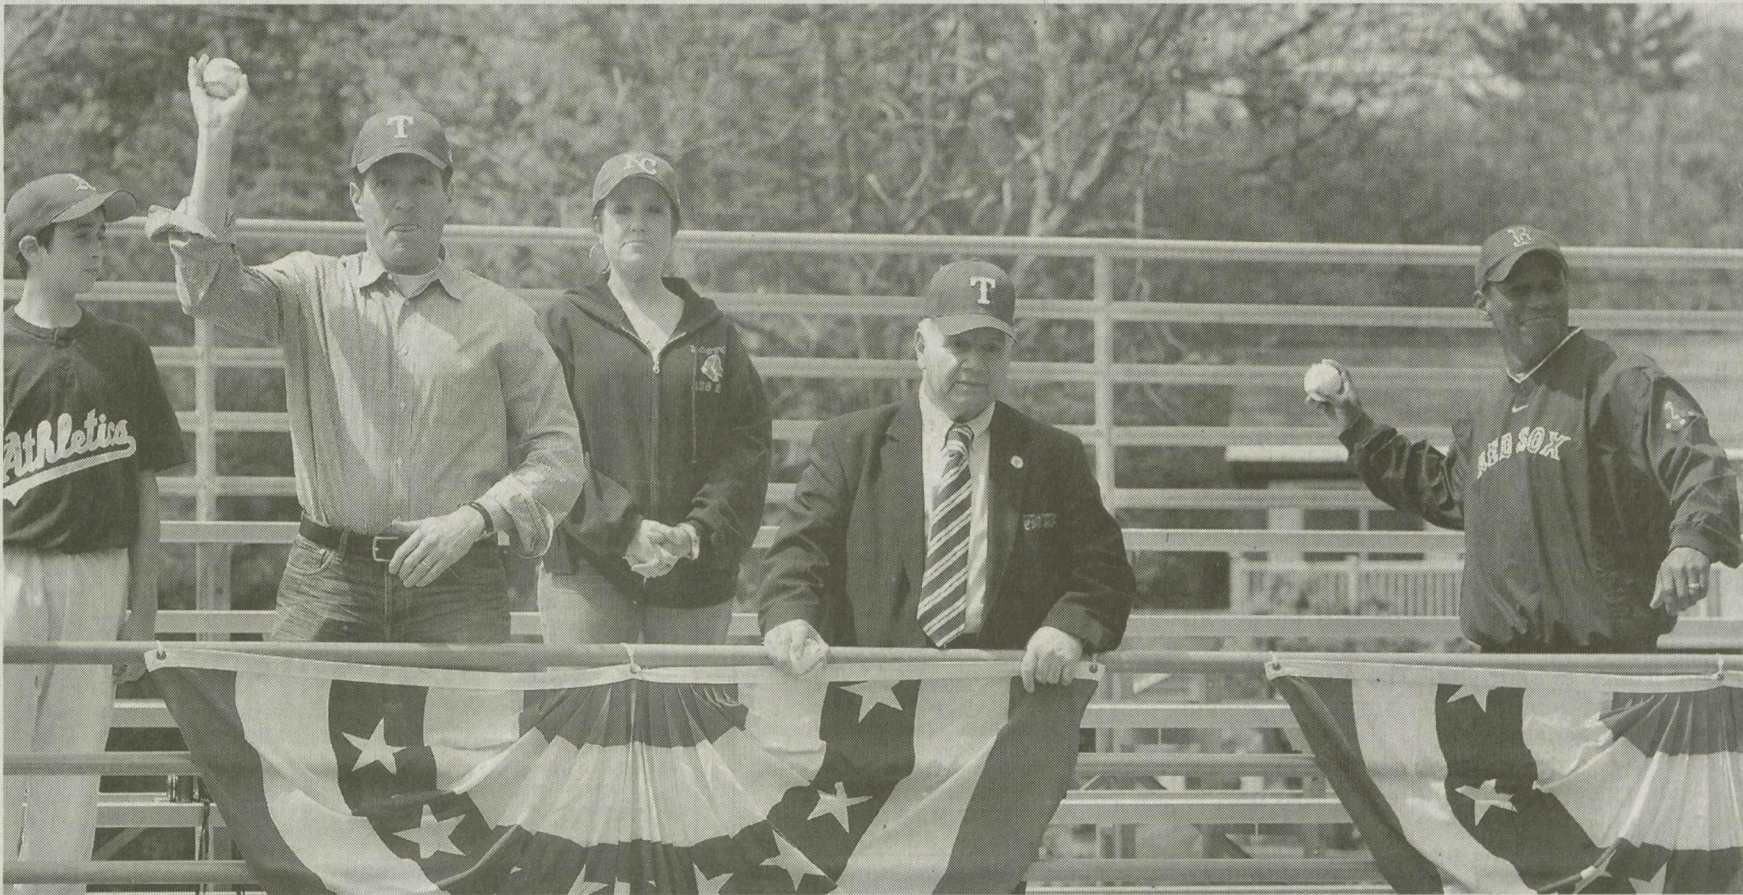

Boys Under 15

Harvard 14,
Tewksbury Red 5

The Tewksbury Boys U15-Red had their hands full all afternoon against a very solid and skilled Harvard U15 team.

Missing several key players due to injuries the Tewksbury squad fought hard, but could not match the intensity of Harvard's solid attack. Tewksbury had the initial highlight of the game striking first early on with a goal by Ryan Sheehan set up by Ryan Flynn. From there it was all Harvard as Tewksbury Goalie JP Mooney was deluged by shot after shot from Harvard, and the team found itself quickly in a big hole.

Tewksbury went into half time facing a huge deficit, but did end up putting together some nice offensive attacks in the second half. Sheehan scored for second time assisted by Luc Surrence and Billy Tamboli. Nathan Dooley sniped in a nice shot set up by some aggressive play by Ryan Wackrow who did not give up and fought hard for ball possession. Cam Connors and Nick Muise found Sheehan again giving him a hat trick for the day.

Rounding out the scoring for Tewksbury was Tyler Harvey. Fresh out of the penalty box he got behind the Harvard defense and Jacob Cofer and Jeff Horton worked the ball around to find him breaking to the net. David Scarpa gets a team award this week for taking what had to have been the hardest hit of the afternoon. He shook it off and wanted to play on to help his team, showing his solid commitment and aggressive play giving his teammates somewhat to mirror in future weeks.

Boys Under 13

Tewksbury Red 7,
Groton Maroon 6

The Tewksbury BU13 Red team traveled to Groton to take on the Groton-

Dunstable U13 Maroon team and came away with a 7-6 win. The team played their best all-around game of the season. Tewksbury dominated the first half play and held a 3-1 half time lead on goals by Chris Monteneri and Stephen Johnson.

The Groton team came out flying in the 2nd half. They cut the Tewksbury lead to one goal by the end of the 3rd period. Tewksbury Defense clamped down and held off the attack of the Groton team. Second half goals were scored by Stephen Johnson, Francis Pino, Michael Andrea and Derek Schumaker. The goalie play by Christopher Abele was nothing short of great. He made many critical saves at the end of the game to preserve the win.

Boys Under 11

Tewksbury White 16,
Malden Gold 9

Tewksbury U11 White finished off a busy lacrosse weekend with a 16-9 victory over Malden Gold on the turf Sunday. Strong goaltending by Andrew Farrell supported the half time lead by saving seven shots of the 11 attempts thrown at him. Six players contributed to the first half scoring including Sean Fahey, Kyle Scrooc, Hunter DeLonais, Shane Aylward and Matthew Rosemond with his first goal of the season. Tewksbury White had a commanding halftime lead of 8-4.

Tewksbury's solid defensive squad including Robert Chisolm, Brodie Tirrell, Sean Sears and Asa DeRoche kept the net front tidy throughout the game. Riley Auth tended the net for the second half thwarting Malden's attempts at a comeback as he saved eight of the 13 shots thrown at him. Again six Tewksbury players each netted a goal in the second half including Michael Dell'Orfano, Owen Gilligan, Nicky Iannacci, Ritchie Markwarth, and Shane Aylward who lead the offensive attack for the day with five goals.

Under 11 Girls

The Tewksbury girls won their first game this week. They faced Chelmsford and came away with a 5-3 victory. Goalies Tori Post and Morgan Woodman combined for seven saves in the win. Playing some aggressive defense were Kristina Johnson (1 assist), Caitlin Marchant (1 assist), Maeve Cahill, Riley Veits, and Brooke Woodman. Handling the offensive duties on Attack were Olivia Delonais (1 goal 2 assists), Shannon Crowley, Paige Carpenter, Izzy Alfano and Erin Carter (2 assists).

Playing middies this week and combining for 4 goals and 4 assists were Madi Sjostedt (1 goal, 1 assist), Madi Itri (1 goal 1 assist), Riann Savoia, Rena Ruggiero, Hailey Poirier (2 assists), and Susanna Darrigo (2 goals). Players of the game were Riley Veits for her end to end rush and stellar defense along with Susanna Darrigo for her offensive outburst.

Tewksbury Youth Softball weekend highlights

JR 10U
Homans Associates Red Sox 10,
SH Famalore Plubming & Heating Indians 8
The Red Sox, sponsored by Homans Associates, played their second game of the year Wednesday night at Volunteer Field and came away with a thrilling 10-8 comeback victory over the SJ Famalore Plumbing & Heating Indians.

The Red Sox fell behind 4-0 in the 1st inning but chipped away with two runs in the first inning (runs by Ashley Giordano and Morgan Woodman) and four runs in the third inning thanks to some great at-bats by Brianna Iandoli, Rebecca DeFrancesco, and Amanda Moreira, to take a 6-4 lead.

Eryn Taber came in and did a fabulous job by pitching two scoreless innings (with 6 strikeouts) that enabled the Red Sox to take the lead. The Indians came back with a very spirited rally and took an 8-6 lead into the bottom of the fourth inning. That is when the bats of the Red Sox came to life, Morgan Woodman and Eryn Taber started the rally with a sharp singles that put the tying runs on bases. Alexa Harrington then followed with a clutch double to deep left-center field that scored Morgan Woodman and Eryn Taber tying the score.

The comeback became complete when Leah Veloz doubled home Alexa Harrington for the go-ahead and winning run.

The Red Sox also had strong contributions from Brooke Woodman and Gianna Sullivan who each reached base two times and played good defense; as well as Brianna Iandoli caught all four innings and did a great job getting on base three times.

Dr. Demetriou's Cubs vs
Edelstein & Company LLP White Sox

Dr. Demetriou's 10U Junior Cubs took faced the White Sox at Alumni Field. The Cubs came out with their game faces on and got on the board quick with four runs. However their defense wasn't quite there and they gave up four runs of their own to the White Sox in the bottom of the inning.

It was a back and forth game with strong pitching from Elizabeth Taggart and an offensive break out from Janitsa Parisi who contributed her first two hits of the season. Strong defensive play from Adrianna Niles who made some close plays at third as well as a great catch from Lexi Polimeno coming off the pitcher's mound. Michelle Hinkle and Madison Logan were outstanding behind the plate helping their pitcher's work through the innings.

Intermediate League
RE/Max Leading Edge Royals 12,
Fantastic Sams Rockies 13

The RE/Max Leading Edge Royals lost by one run to the Fantastic Sams Rockies. Riley Cote made her pitching debut, pitching 3 strong innings and had 3 strike outs. The Royals bats were very active with hits from Catherine Butler, Jess Caredeo, Brigh Cote, Molly Hodgson, Riley Cote, Izzy Schmidt and Delaney Jackson. Defensively the Royals first baseman, Sarah Bishop provided two straight outs in one inning and made some great catches and third baseman Jacqui Marchant also made a quick out to end an inning.

The Royals also made a great double play when a pop up to the pitcher was caught by Catherine Butler who then threw it to first base which was being backed up by a quick thinking right fielder Brigh Cote, who tagged the plate and got the out!

RE/Max Leading Edge Royals 17,
Mr. Gutterman Angels 7

Once again the RE/Max Leading Edge Royals came to play and came off with their first win against a tough fielding Mr. Gutterman's Angels team. The highlight of the game was a Royals' triple play started by Izzy Schmidt who caught a pop up to right field. She then quickly threw it to first base, covered by Catherine Butler, who tagged the base to get the second out. She then threw it to second baseman Brigh Cote, who tagged the player to make the final out!

The Royals also had a double play with pitcher Molly Hodgson catching a pop up and then throwing it to second baseman Danielle Howe, who tagged the player and got the second out. Offensively the Royals were once again swinging their bats with a key single from Danielle Howe and double from Molly Hodgson.

Mortgage Financial, Inc. Diamondbacks 11,
Fantastic Sams Rockies 5

The Diamondbacks were led to victory by the pitching of Helen Johnson, who was backed up by outstanding defensive plays from Maeve Costigan at second base and Brianna Haley at shortstop. The offense was led by two hits by Sydney Quinn and key singles by Amanda Clarke and Erica Pantanella.

B&M Office Installation Rays 10,
Crystals Convenience Marlins 9

The Crystals Convenience Marlins lost a close game to the B&M Office Installation Rays this week by one run. Samantha LaLonde had a strong showing on the mound for the Marlins while Rachel Conway provided terrific support as catcher snagging a popped up foul ball for a key out. Nice defense was provided by Lydia Joyce who handled the ball well for the Marlins on third base and Jenna Wentworth who got some critical outs as first baseman.

Taylor Brothers and Katelyn Scarano continued to show strong hitting into the outfield. Shannon Farias, Julia Ronan and Alyssa Ouellette rounded out the team with good base running to help bring the team to their closes game of the season.

Senior League
Dovetail Construction Twins 14,
Atamian VW Honda Astros 1

Scoreless through three, Twin Rhiannon Delucia smacked a double for the lead in the fourth. Rhiannon finished the game with 3 hits. Other notable Twins on offense included Teagan Trant (3 hits, 2 RBI), Colleen MacNeil (3 runs) and Jade Sabbag. Twin hurlers Adrianna Favreau and Teagan kept the Astros in check, allowing two hits and two walks through seven innings of combined work.

The Twins showed versatility with players at new positions including catcher Molly Harrington, who had a terrific game. Other Twin defensive standouts included second basemen Sarah Benson and first baseman Sarah Ward.

In-Town soccer wrap-up

Lorianna Luongo got the crowd jumping out of their seats. Katrina Riekstins led the scoring charge while the great defensive effort of Asha Bohnert, Cameryn Foresyth and Lian Juergens kept the action going.

Boys First Grade

Chivas USA

vs Columbus Crew

The Columbus Crew's offensive pressure was relentless with Charlie Maiella and Brendan Fitzpatrick applying it with utter determination. Outstanding defense by James Caples was a sight to see. While scoring by James Fisher, Dillon McGrath and Ryan Kanihan had the crowd on the edge of their seats.

Philadelphia Union

vs NE Revolution

The crowd was kept on the edge of their seats this week as the Philadelphia Union led by the offensive skills of Jonathan DeFeo and Calvin Lemay led to scoring opportunities by Jonathan Magliozzi, Thomas Sica and Jared Bishop. The defense was not to be left out of this one either as Jacob Smith and Sebastien Deverbigier kept the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

Colorado Rapids

vs LA Galaxy

The LA Galaxy's offensive pressure was relentless with Noah Carriere, Dominic Feeney and Liam Lydon applying it with utter determination. Outstanding defense by Owen Mitchell, Mason Rosner and Griffin Carr was a sight to see. While scoring by Patrick Stokes had the crowd on the edge of their seats.

Girls Second Grade

DC United

vs NE Revolution

The crowd was kept on the edge of their seats this week as the DC United led by the offensive skills of Caterina Tassone, Kaitlyn Smith, Olivia Spizzucco and Alexa Leone led to scoring opportunities by Rita Roche and Amanda Solari. The defense was not to be left out of this one either as Kelli Schuler Lily Rubin and Rhiannon Dymont kept the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

Colorado Rapids

vs Chivas USA

The crowd was kept on the edge of their seats this week as the Colorado Rapids led by the offensive skills of Olivia Rogers, Taylor Breen, Emily Freitas, and Shea

Cushing, led to scoring opportunities by Emily Hassell, Maura Fiorenza, and Tori Ciampa. The defense was not to be left out of this one either as Meghan O'Mahony, Alyssa Granara and Gabrielle de Verbigier kept the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

The Chivas USA's Alyssa Rago stayed on her toes and scored with help from Ella Reynolds, Angelyn Ciampa, Adriana Rice, Isabelle Puccio and Ella Malvone on offense. Kali Almedia, Danielle Flaherty, Abby Frye, Gianna Melaragni, and Jenna Moore shut down the other end of the field, which set the tone for the defense.

Columbus Crew vs

Chicago Fire

The Columbus Crew led by the offensive skills of Sara Buckley, Jenna Danieli and Quinn Proulx were on display as the scoring opportunities were finished off by Rachel Nally and Abby Regan. Not to be left out, the defense showed it's skills with Samantha Jareo and Gabriella Monteforte leading a defensive stand while the tandem of Kaitlyn Doherty and Emersyn Forsyth made some incredible saves in net.

Boys 2nd Grade

DC United vs NE

Revolution

The DC United Johann Ferrer and Gavin Erickson scored getting the crowd jumping out of their seats. Outstanding offense by Brian Gargan, Aidan O'Connell, Brett DeAmbrose, Nicholas Doyle set up many scoring chances. The flawless defense of Shane Costello, Matt Ardito and brothers Paul and David Lussiano provided great protection for the GoalKeepers Aidan Elkins and Jack Farrell.

Columbus Crew vs

Chicago Fire

On the other side of the ball for the Chicago Fire was an incredible offensive performance by Michael Broderick, Andrew Stokes, and Xavier Airoso while goals scored by Joey Dynan and Mason Glover got the Fire on the board. With a rock solid defensive stand led by Joey Cornish, Charlie Gardner, and Charlie Boudreau the Fire was never out of this game. The keeper play of Cameron Eich could only be classified as awesome.

Little League round-up

runs in the first with McNamara and Graham Smith crossing the plate. Shorty Simmons pitched well for the Yankees striking out five through three innings.

The Tigers scored three in the fourth inning with Andrew Dalio and Ryan Aldrich picking up RBI. Three more Tigers scored in the fifth with Dalio picking up his second hit and RBI, scoring Kevin O'Donnell who had singled to center-field earlier in the inning. Carl Beatrice and Connor Benoit recorded hits for the Yankees.

Indians 5, White Sox 2

Riley Zaya allowed 4 hits and 2 runs, striking out 9 over 5.2 innings in leading the Indians to their 3rd straight victory, 5-2 over the White Sox. Tate Kennedy got the final out on a pop up to preserve the victory. Defensively the Indians where led by Jarred Aucoin, Robbie Farrell and Scott Falzano as they played error free baseball in helping to shut down the high-powered Sox offense.

The Indians pulled away in the third inning, scoring four runs sparked by Nolan Fitzgerald and John Kenney.

The White Sox offense was lead by Connor MacKenzie, who hit his first homerun of the year. MacKenzie (7 K's) along with Steve Lobao (4 K's) held the Indians to just one hit.

A's 7, Orioles 3

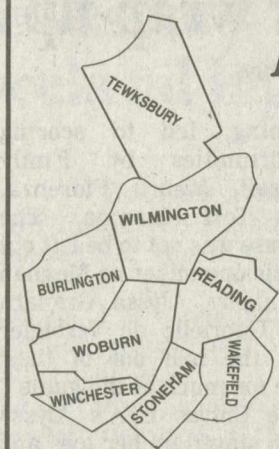

The A's broke a 3-3 tie in the fourth inning with four runs, to take a 7-3 victory from the Orioles on Saturday afternoon. The A's got hits from David Silveria, Joe Mirabella, Bobby Lord, and Cooper May. The A's got great pitching from Danny Gracia, Tommy Robarge, and Lord, who struck out 13 Orioles. Peter Marino played solid defense for the A's.

The Orioles got hits from Jonathan Sears, Matt Rideout, and Christian Robarge. Oriole pitchers Billy McEvoy and Matt Rideout struck out nine A's. Brandon O'Donoghue did a great job behind the plate for the Orioles.

Twins 2, Red Sox 0

In the final game of the day Ryan Maher and Riley McCue took the mound for the Twins and combined to shut down the Red Sox 2-0 at Rotary Park. MattAMENTOLA pitched a great game for the Red Sox and also contributed to the offense with a hit. Andrew Sullivan singled for the Twins and Steve Bonish drove in the winning run. Both teams played stellar defense in this classic pitcher's duel.

PMC Bike Ride, this Sunday

opportunity to circle it as many times as the allotted time for their age group allows. Kindergartners and first-graders will ride from 9 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Second and third-graders will take to the streets from 9:45 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. Fourth through sixth-graders will have their turn from 10:45 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. There will also be an obstacle course set up on the Boutwell school tennis courts for "tykes on trykes" from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. When not riding, kids can take part in the face painting, music, and refreshments offered.

So far, roughly 100 kids have signed up for the event - dwindling numbers from previous years.

"The Wilmington community I find to be very supportive," said Hendee, "but there are a lot of events of this kind." Hendee cites the Women of Wilmington 5K/Kim Forte Walk that took place just last weekend and Relay for Life right around the corner.

The Pan-Mass Kids Ride is unique because of its focus on kids and its emphasis on community service. The registration fee is $15, but kids are encouraged to raise another $20. Riders are responsible for bringing their own bikes and helmets, but those who raise the $20 minimum receive a PMC Kids t-shirt, a water bottle, and a "goodie" bag.

"It's a fun event, but we want them to understand that it's a fundraising event," said Hendee.

Other incentives for the kids will include the raffling off of various items from the Pan-Mass Challenge organization. Kids who raise more will have more chances to win, and only those who meet the $20 minimum will be entered. For those kids, or "Heavy Hitters" as they are officially known, who raise $250 or more, the Pan-Mass Challenge has set aside special prizes. As in previous years, there will also be gifts for the top three fundraisers, donated by the Wilmington Kiwanis Club. The goal for the event is to reach $18,000 in donations, and Hendee recognizes it is not just about finding the biggest donations or raising the most money, but about participants and donors doing their part - however big or small that may be.

"A little bit from a lot of people can accomplish the same thing," said Hendee.

The event is Sunday, May 20th, but there will be a special pre-registration event at the Boutwell Elementary School from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Those who have already registered can pass in donations and pick up their "goodie" bags. Organizers will not be able to register people at the event, as registration must be done online, but they can give information about how to do so an answer any questions potential participants may have. Registration for the event can be done at www.kids.pnc.org by choosing "Wilmington Ride" and following the directions, said Hendee.

Tennis Club

The Andover Tennis Club offers outdoor recreational tennis at Phillips Academy to its members during the summer months. NO courts fees during the summer!

During the winter season, the club plays indoors at the Willows Racquet Club. It is a club for men, women and youth and features singles, doubles and mixed-doubles play at all levels. The club is now accepting new family ($75 per year) and individual ($50 per year) memberships through the end of May.

Those interested in more information may access the Web site at www.andover-tennis.org. Membership dues and information should be mailed to the Andover Tennis Club, PO Box 404, Andover, 01810.

Many locals take part in T.H.E. FARM race

By KAYTI BURT
Sports Correspondent

Sixty-one runners and walkers participated in The Run T.H.E. Farm 5K in Tewksbury on Saturday. James Sullivan, of South Chelmsford, crossed the finish line first with a time of 20:51. The top local finisher was David Eyerman, of Tewksbury, placing fifth with a time of 23:36. Marli Piccolo, of Tewksbury, was the top female finisher overall, running the 5K in 23:55 for 8th place overall.

There were 14 Tewksbury residents who ran in the 5K in addition to those mentioned above. They included: Brian Ristuccia (23:44, 6th), Frederick Pendleton (23:52, 7th), Samantha Kelley (27:01, 16th), Jim Williams (27:14, 17th), Caitlin Kelley (29:24, 22nd), Vanna Howard (29:28, 23rd), Beth McGuire (31:05, 26th), Rita La Bella (31:06, 27th), Liz Varneyeyerman (32:22, 29th), Jennifer Kenney (37:06, 35th), Louis Quercia (50:22, 38th), Danielle Farrell (52:39, 42nd), Larry Bridges (56:48, 52nd), Nathalie Balch (1:09:40, 60th).

Donna Drinkwater represented Wilmington at the event, finishing in 35:18 for a 34th place finish.

The run was held on the 450 acres of conservation land designated for T.H.E. Farm, a non-profit organization on the Tewksbury Hospital property that aims to "to enrich lives through the healing power of horses," according to their website. T.H.E. Farm offers myriad of programs, including a therapeutic riding program for the hospital and general public. The organization was recently featured on NPR in the special report, "Pet Therapy: How Animals and Humans Heal Each Other."

The Run T.H.E. Farm 5K course began and ended at the horse barn with the "Horsebreak Hill," then leading participants through "the historic architecture of the hospital's stone building," according to the website for the program, which had great deal of fun with their stable theme.

"Continue on and enter our trail route winding through beautiful farmland and fields to gallop to our finish," it states. The first 100 people to register for the event were given a backpack and all participants were awarded with a horse ribbon at the finish line. Water stops were available along the route and beverages and snacks were offered at the end of the race.

T.H.E. Farm, built in 1997 largely with donations from individuals, businesses, and private charitable foundations, provides equine therapeutic programs to clients of the hospital, schools, and other service agencies, as well as to the general public. The organization's inception was inspired by the synthesis of the values of philanthropy and land conservation. Volunteers maintain the many fields and trails on the property, which are open to the public.

"Artists, hikers, and bicyclists are among the many members of the regional community who now use this serenely beautiful, historic, conservation land for a variety of recreational purposes," states T.H.E. Farm's website.

In addition to their therapeutic riding program, T.H.E. Farm offers riding and general horsemanship lessons, as well as "special programs" designed to meet individual or group needs. This could include community outreach programs to groups such as the Girl and Boy Scouts of America, state college and vocational tours, the Boston University Community Services for individuals with disabilities, and Special Olympics; educational programs for everything from conferences to intern and training programs; after school and vacation week programs; and children's summer camps.

Mary Cummings Park

Burlington moves ahead with new field construction

BY RYAN LAROCHE

A local landscape and construction company has been quite busy over the last couple years. Three years ago, Heimlich Landscape & Construction began work on Manchester Field in Winchester (located at the McCall Middle School on Main Street) to put in a brand new turf field. Today, the Woburn-based construction company (located at 65 Burlington St.) has taken over Mary Cummings Recreational Park in Burlington.

For those not familiar with Heimlich, don't confuse Heimlich Landscape & Construction with Heimlich Nurseries. The two companies were split up back in 1988 between the two Heimlich brothers.

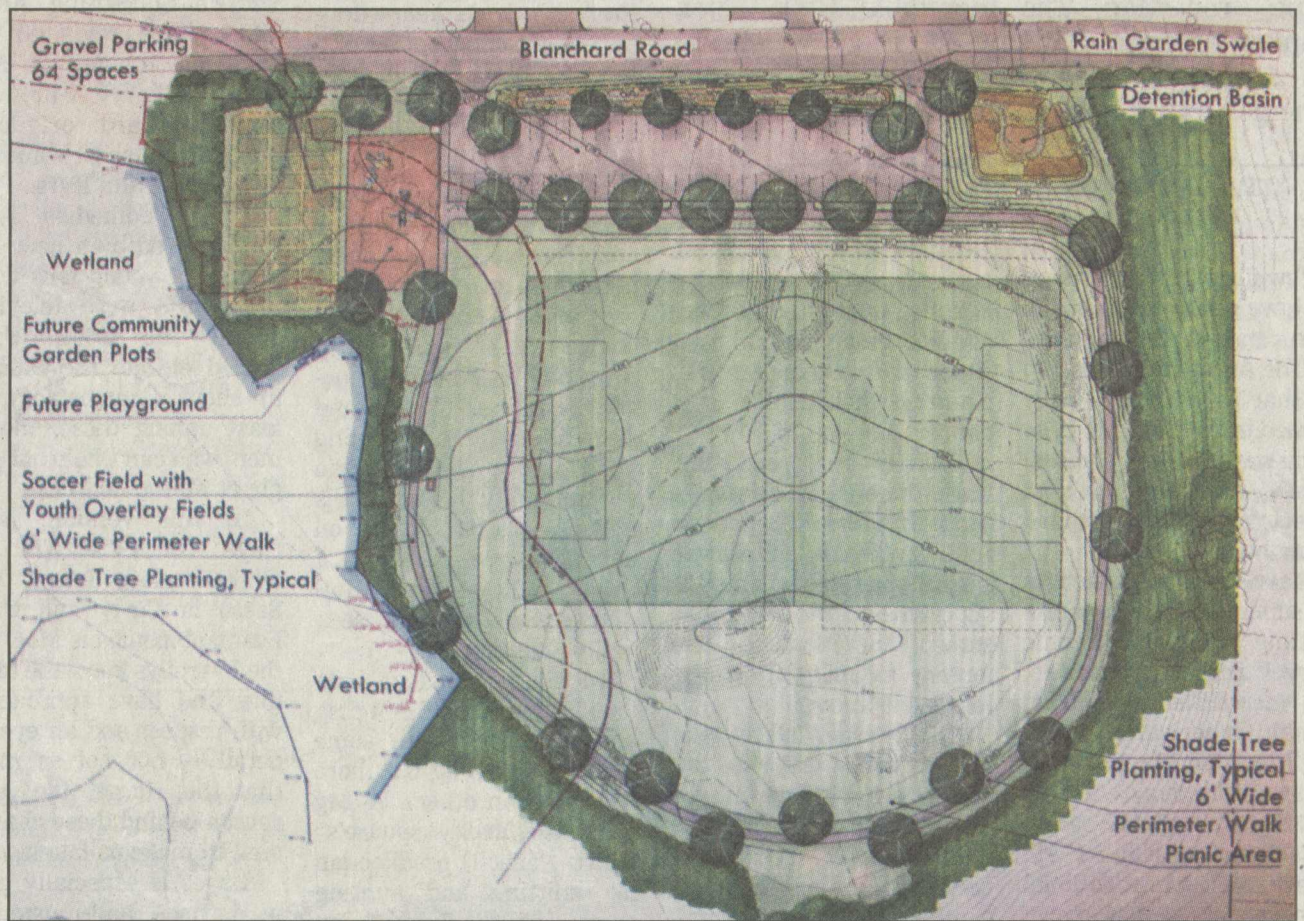

Back in 2009, Heimlich won the right to build out Phase I of Manchester Field's renovation, which included the artificial turf, 800-seat bleachers, and a press box. They finished in the fall of 2009, just in time for Winchester to beat rival Woburn in the annual Thanksgiving Day football game. Within the turf field is the letter "W" - not painted but embroidered. Under the turf are 500 tons of sand and rubber, and 7,000 tons of stone to allow for proper drainage. Heimlich also created handicapped access from the parking lot to the grandstands.

Now, as Winchester attempts to raise funds for Phase II of the Manchester Field renovation project, Ray Heimlich, president of Heimlich Landscaping & Construction, said his group would be putting in a bid. That work will consist of a new track and grass infield.

In Burlington, Heimlich ended up as the low bidder and was awarded the contract to renovate Mary Cummings Recreational Park. The park is actually owned by the City of Boston and licensed to Burlington. The plan shows a design for an open space, plus a community gardens and a playground. The park is located off Blanchard Road near Rt. 128, Rt. 3 and the Woburn line.

Right now, Burlington only has funding for the open space,

THE PLAN FOR MARY CUMMINGS PARK IN BURLINGTON - As low bidders, Burlington awarded the contract to local contractors Heimlich Landscape & Construction to build out the open space for use as a soccer/lacrosse field (or two youth soccer fields). Heimlich recently finished work on Manchester Field in Winchester and will be bidding to complete a second phase of work at the field.

to be used as a soccer or lacrosse field. Don Lorinovich, Director of Parks and Recreation in Burlington, said that the gardens and playground would be built if/when Burlington has the money (around $100k for both).

The field will be set up for use as one high school regulation field or two youth soccer fields. The project costs $350k, which Town Meeting had to approve. It approved $250k in May of 2010 and $100k in January of this year.

After approving the initial $250k, the town received Boston's approval to do the work last April. Lorinovich said the design, completed by the Berkshire Design Group in Northampton, was finished "in the last year." Next up, Heimlich will seed the ground with loam in August or September allowing the grass to grow during the fall and spring seasons. That means the field should be ready for play by the fall of next year.

The field will not be irrigated, as the town doesn't have the money for that, Lorinovich said. However, the field will have many other amenities including six shade trees, four picnic tables, four park benches, and five litter receptacles. The recreational director also listed six things the town would like to have if the money becomes available: the aforementioned playground, seven additional shade trees, five additional picnic tables, five additional park benches, four additional litter receptacles, and eight bike loops.

Those trees will be, according to Heimlich president Ray Heimlich, a mixture of maple, elm, oak and birch. He also said existing trees already in the roadway would remain.

There is a walking path around the field and the parking lot will have 64 spaces. There will also be a guardrail protecting the field from the parking lot.

As there are wetlands adjacent to the open space, the project had to receive approval from the Conservation Commission and the Board of Health. And because of the large nature of the project, it also received approval from the Capital Planning Committee.

The original plan had the playground, looking from Blanchard Road, on the left side of the open area and the community gardens on the right side. New plans show the playground moved to the right

Movie Reviews

"THE AVENGERS" DOESN'T DISAPPOINT

MARVEL'S "THE AVENGERS" LIVES up to the hype. Iron Man, The Incredible Hulk, Thor, Captain America, Hawkeye and Black Widow are all working together when an unexpected enemy emerges that threatens global safety and security.

"THE AVENGERS"
GRADE: ****

Few films in recent memory have generated as much hype - and fan anticipation - as 'The Avengers'. Living up to that hype may have seemed impossible, but in so many ways it does - and surpasses even the wildest expectations of diehard comic book fan boys.

Marvel's The Avengers is the super hero team up of a lifetime, featuring iconic Marvel heroes Iron Man, The Incredible Hulk, Thor, Captain America, Hawkeye and Black Widow. When an unexpected enemy emerges that threatens global safety and security, Nick Fury, Director of the international peacekeeping agency known as S.H.I.E.L.D., finds himself in need of a team to pull the world back from the brink of disaster.

Attempting to pay off on the promise made the first time Samuel L. Jackson's Avengers-assembling Nick Fury appeared during the credits of 2008's "Iron Man" (and subsequent appearances in "The Incredible Hulk," "Iron Man 2," "Thor" and "Captain America"), it also is a movie fans have been breathlessly awaiting.

Big, loud, awesome and eye-popping, writer-director Joss Whedon's film is a summertime treat that delivers on all that it promises. Nick Fury assembles the Avengers to defeat a common foe borrowed from "Thor," armed with a powerful artifact borrowed from "Captain America" - and they proceed to fight in spectacular fashion.

Above all, Whedon remembers to have fun along the way, providing the audience with satisfying action sequences and more one-line zingers than most superhero franchises can claim in their entire lifespan.

This is not a brooding, Christopher Nolan-style 'Batman' film. There's no time for that - with seven major superheroes, and one supervillain, to fit on the screen, there's little time for any meaningful character development.

This is a movie that is at its best when its heroes are either cracking skulls or cracking jokes. Whedon tries to weave shreds of a back story around the film's two least-known characters, Black Widow (Scarlett Johansson) and Hawkeye (Jeremy Renner). They're fascinating to be sure, with back stories ripe for development, but there's no opportunity to get into them in this film.

For those who have kept up with the other Marvel films, "The Avengers" is a nice payoff to a unique and ambitious filmmaking strategy - and one whose blueprint can be counted on to change the way major studios approach their superhero franchises for years to come.

"THE FIVE-YEAR ENGAGEMENT"
GRADE: **

"The Five-Year Engagement" is the latest movie starring and co-written by Jason Segel, and it's good, if slightly too long. The humor is definitely R-rated, and there's an air of despair, or melancholy, that almost overwhelms the movie in its last act, but strong lead performances by Segel and Emily Blunt save it in the end.

Segel and Blunt play a couple who, as the movie begins, have been together a year and are now ready to get married. But before they can, life keeps getting in the way, especially when Blunt is offered a job in Michigan, far from their San Francisco base. Years drag on, other conflicts arise, and the audience is left to wonder if the engagement is as far as these two will ever get.

Their story includes a lot of slapstick, confusion and considerable angst. Their performances are complemented by a cast of TV-comedy stars, particularly from NBC's Thursday lineup: Chris Pratt ("Parks and Recreation"), Mindy Kaling ("The Office"), Alison Brie ("Community") and Chris Parnell ("30 Rock") are on hand, along with the likes of David Paymer, Mimi Kennedy and a briefly seen Molly Shannon.

In classic Apatow fashion, "Engagement" is messy and meanders, with some situations playing out more sharply than others. A gag about a "faculty spouse's" (Chris Parnell) predilection for knitting and hunting grows tiresome. In contrast, an intense argument in bed between Tom and Violet is painfully authentic and written to perfection.

I liked the movie. I laughed a lot.

But one negative of the film for me, other than why they just didn't get married in the first place, was that it's far too long.

"Five-Year" sometimes feels a little draggy. But it's a lot more ambitious than most romantic comedies. It has solid ideas about what makes relationships work, and makes the point that the best relationships are worth the wait.

"THE THREE STOOGES"
GRADE: **

You really have to be a fan of the original Three Stooges to enjoy the new film that pays homage to the trio, "The Three Stooges".

The movie is about 90 minutes of brutal slapstick, terrible puns and a plot that's barely outlined for actors and audience members alike. There are slaps, eye pokes, falls from tall buildings and objects landing on people. There are fake sound effects and bloodless hurting of individuals.

Unless you are already inclined to laugh hysterically at that kind of comedy, the movie's merits will be lost on you.

Brothers Bobby and Peter Farrelly, known for producing comedies such as Dumb and Dumber and There's Something About Mary, have revisited the inspiring images of Moe Howard, Larry Fine and Curly Howard originally presented in short comedies in the 1930s and 1940s.

Those comedies were rediscovered by a new generation of young fans when the shorts were televised during the 1950s, which helped elevate the Stooges to showbiz immortality, at least among those, mostly men, who can't help but giggle at all the nonsense.

In this version, Sean Hayes (of TV's 'Will and Grace') plays Larry, Will Sasso is Curly and Chris Diamantopoulos is Moe. But the Farrellys know the territory and have approached with respect and an eye for detail - but not so much that they forget the main reason behind these characters, to make us laugh.

Hayes is especially good at Larry's half-murmured spoken delivery, but all three actors have clearly studied the expressions of their predecessors - and the incredible timing and speed that went into making all the gags work.

The film is also stacked with funny supporting players, notably Larry David as a grouchy nun.

'The Three Stooges' does have a plot: the story (such as it is) is that the Stooges are orphaned friends who, as adults, must save their orphanage from being closed.

Not everyone gets the humor of the Stooges. That was true for the original shorts, and it holds true for the new version as well. But then again, if you are among those that already know you don't think the original gags were funny, it's unlikely you are the target audience for the new film.

6th Annual Crafts in the Park Fair

The 6th Annual Crafts in the Park at Ipswich River Park holds true to the park's logo of, "Something for Everyone."

With about 50 local vendors present, there promises to be items that peak the interests of all. Looking for jewelry? There will be glass, beaded, gemstone, sterling silver, metal work, bottle cap, crystal and even a cleaner to keep it all looking new forever.

The kids can have fun with face painting and sand art. Mary Kay, Pampered Chef, Mische Bag, and Cutco Cutlery representatives present will be offering their products.

There will be clothes for adults, children, and dolls. Handbags, sunglasses, and hair accessories will complete your ensemble for the day.

How's your back feeling? There will be a Chiropractor giving free screenings to help you out.

If you love Candles, there will be a large assortment in all shapes and sizes. You can't forget the four legged members of the family. Pet products including natural dog treats will be on display.

This is even a great opportunity to just stroll through the park and enjoy lunch from the famous North Reading Recreation concession stand while enjoying the music and entertainment.

The festivities run from 10:00 to 3:00 on Saturday May 19, by the gazebo. In the event of bad weather, the fair will be held on Sunday May 20. Stop by and you will find something to enjoy.

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

PUBLIC 'HEARINGS' IN READING

"The town has approved the first two amplified sound permits to be issued under the new amplified sound policy, though the fee structure for these permits has yet to be approved," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The Board of Selectmen in February approved a policy regarding the use of amplified sound in public areas, after reviewing suggested changes to the policy made by Town Counsel."

"At a public hearing held on the policy, no residents spoke against language of the document, which governs the use of amplified sound in public parks, playgrounds, recreation and other open space areas."

"On Tuesday, April 10, the town's Recreation Committee issued two separate permits to allow the use of amplified sound at events."

"According to a posting on the Recreation Department's page at the town website, the permits issued thus far went to Reading Youth Baseball, for use at Hunt Park from 5:15-8 p.m. on April 27, and Reading Babe Ruth League, for use at Morton Field from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 26."

"The Recreation Committee is scheduled to hold a public hearing on Tuesday, May 15th at 7:15 PM at the Senior Center Great Room to discuss the fees for amplified sound use permits in the parks" ... with a proposed fee of $100 per permit.

'PRECEDENTIAL POLITICS' - WINCHESTER

"One reason opponents of this spring Town Meeting's Article 6 voted to indefinitely postpone the article was to avoid setting a precedent," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Article 6 was a proposal to send a resolution to Congress in response to a Supreme Court decision relative to corporations and free speech."

SOUND SYSTEMS, REPEAT PERFORMANCES, AND DOT COMMUNICATION

Should Town Meeting once weigh in on a national issue, opponents said, it might happen over and over and lead to partisan politics.

"Had they wanted a precedent for this position, they could have cited the fall 1982 Town Meeting when a proposal that the Board of Selectmen send a letter to the President of the United States [Ronald Reagan] also failed due to the success of a motion to indefinitely postpone..."

"At Town Meeting in the fall of 1982, the fact that Winchester residents had already had the opportunity to vote on the referendum question was enough for some. Others said that the message had not gotten through..."

"After about an hour's debate, a motion to indefinitely postpone the article carried 98 to 41."

"Should another article addressing a national issue ever go before Town Meeting again, those who prefer that warrant articles deal only with town business can point to two precedents where the majority essentially tossed out the articles. At the same time, history points out that statements by Winchester citizens on national issues can be effected through a ballot referendum question. Such results, in the end, can be more representative of its citizenry than Town Meeting."

OF NOTE IN TEWKSBURY

"...The Board of Selectmen voted to approve the liquor license request of Chopsticks Express Chinese Restaurant, which is located at 910

Andover Street," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

"The Board also approved the application of Drew Vernalia to join the Community Preservation Committee. It also approved the Memorial Day Parade. All votes were unanimous."

"Ocean State Job Lot sought a traffic light for its entrance. It said it will pay the expenses. The Board noted that it would send a letter to Mass DOT."

"The Board reviewed the warrants for the Annual Town Meeting, as well as the secondary Special Town Meeting. All articles relating to the Town Meeting, with the exceptions of 5-8, 22, and 24-28, were approved. The rest were tabled. Planning Board articles were referred to said Board."

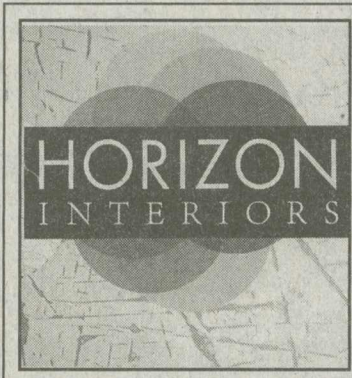

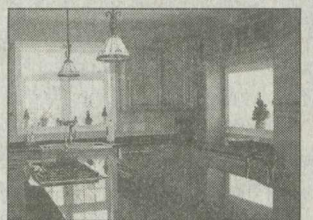

"All articles relating to the secondary Special Town Meeting, with the exceptions of 4 and 7, were tabled. Six received a 4-1 vote, with Stronach dissenting. Planning Board articles were referred to that Board."

Athletes & Activities

by Paul Feely

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Name this Angels pitcher, who in 2008, set the record for most saves in a single season.

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•Sophomore Tim Regan

(Sandwich, Mass.) placed runner-up in the 400 meter dash and helped the 4X100 meter relay team to second place to lead the UMass

Lowell men's track and field team at the University of New Hampshire Wildcat Invitational at the Reggie F. Atkins Track & Field Complex.

UMass Lowell was the sole Division II school to compete in the field that included the host Wildcats, Central Connecticut, Maine, Dartmouth, UMass and Connecticut.

Regan ran the 400 meters in 49.32 seconds, behind only Kyle Twombly of Connecticut, who took first in 49.22. Regan led three River Hawks in the top four places as sophomore Tunde Ogunleye (Fitchburg, Mass.) placed third in 49.37 and senior Jeff Wundt (Southwick, Mass.) fourth in 49.46.

Regan also ran a leg on UMass Lowell's 4X100 meter relay team which finished second in 43.53 seconds, behind only Dartmouth (42.67). Joining him was sophomore Casey O'Brien (Seekonk, Mass.) and freshmen Kevin Johnston (Amesbury, Mass.) and Ian Peuser (Rockland, Mass.).

Johnston also placed sixth in the 100 meter dash in 11.20 seconds.

Freshman Oluwadam Dada (Lowell, Mass.) took second in the triple jump with a distance of 43 feet, 5.75 inches, just behind freshman Amanze Williams of Connecticut, who took first with a leap of 44' 7.5".

Sophomore Keith Lewis (Nashua, N.H.) placed fourth in the 400 meter hurdles with a time of 54.78 seconds while sophomore Vladimir Francois (North Attleboro, Mass.) took sixth in 55.86.

Sophomore Devin O'Neill (Braintree, Mass.) led UMass Lowell in the throws, placing fifth in the javelin (167' 3.0") and eighth in the shot put 42' 8.75".

Freshman Garrett King (Amesbury, Mass.) placed fourth in the pole vault, clearing 13' 3.5" while FRESHMAN RICHARD KIRBY (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) finished tied for sixth with a height of 12' 9.5".

Other highlights on the day included that of FRESHMAN RYAD BENCHEIKH (WOBURN, MASS.), who placed fifth in the 200 meter dash in 22.59; and freshman Patrick Greaney (Mansfield, Mass.), who took fifth in the long jump (21' 7.25").

•HOLY CROSS GRADUATING SENIOR FORWARD JAY SILVIA (BURLINGTON, MASS.)

has signed an Amateur Tryout Agreement (ATO) with the AHL's Worcester Sharks. The Sharks are the affiliate of the NHL's San Jose Sharks. The Sharks have three regular seasons games left on their schedule. Silvia played in 140 career games which are tied for seventh all-time at the school. His 34 career goals and 10 game-winning goals were the most by any current member of the team. He also posted 30 assists for 64 career points. Over his career he was named the Atlantic Hockey Player of the Week, the AHA Rookie of the Week, the AT&T Crusader of the Week and won the team's Seventh Player award. This season, he played in all 39 games with seven goals and 11 assists for 18 points. As a junior he was named to the Atlantic Hockey All-Academic team.

Burlington from S-1

side, adjacent to the gardens, due to a detention basin where the playground would have originally been.

In a sign of the times, Lorinovich said 18 companies bid on the project. As Heimlich was the low bidder, they had to be accepted. But, as the company has done many projects in the area, including in Burlington, Lorinovich was very familiar with the company and said they had a "great reputation."

As of now, Heimlich has been pushing up the topsoil and established subgrade. They also did demolish on the old foundation. Next will come tree plantings and work on the parking lot.

The park, which will be known as Mary P.C. Cummings Estate - Burlington Recreation Area once the project is completed, used to be home to farmland, said president Ray Heimlich. Lorinovich believed it has been Mary Cummings Park since the 1920s. In fact, he said one of the descendants, Warren Cummings, liked the idea (though he pointed out that the Cummings' didn't need to approve the plans, as they gave the land to Boston).

Unfortunately, Burlington doesn't have the money for a synthetic field, as Heimlich said those could last 10-15 years with proper care (that includes running a groomer over it and wetting it down in the summer). He pointed out that natural grass fields can't take the abuse from constant use like synthetic fields can.

He also said turf fields drain quickly.

That works out well for Winchester, as Heimlich installed synthetic turf at Manchester Field for a cost of more than $1.2M (more than $200k of which was donated). So far, there have been no complaints about the field, and, in fact, Winchester is attempting to pass at Town Meeting an article to create a revolving account to help take care of the field.

Other than working on Manchester Field and Mary Cummings Park, Heimlich has been busy in Malden converting McDonald Field (near the Malden Center T Station) from natural grass to synthetic. They also worked on a park in Brookline and two grass fields in Lexington. The Lexington fields were sodded and not seeded, Heimlich said.

For a local company that employs 10-12 Woburn residents, Heimlich sure gets around. If they win the bid to work on Phase II of Manchester Field, expect to see more of Heimlich in the area over the next couple years.

remember PLEASURE ISLAND

LONGWOOD PLACE
AT READING
WEDNESDAY, MAY 23RD
AT 6:00 PM

Remember Pleasure Island? The Old Smokey Railroad, Captain Kidd at Pirate's Cove, the Silo Slide, Diamond Lil's Western Show. This Disneyland-inspired Wakefield theme park created magical memories for New England families from 1959 to 1969.

Revisit Pleasure Island May 23rd at Longwood Place at Reading. Local historian Robert McLaughlin, author of the book Pleasure Island and founder of Friends of Pleasure Island, will tell the park's fascinating story from its revolutionary conception to its ambitious construction, lively tourist years and ultimate financial collapse. It's a story movies are made of!

Exploring the risk factors for prostate cancer

In the United States, one in six men can expect to be diagnosed with prostate cancer, while there is a one in seven chance that a Canadian man will be diagnosed with prostate cancer at some point during his lifetime.

Those elevated incidence rates could be a byproduct of an aging population, as age is a significant risk factor for prostate cancer. According to the Prostate Cancer Foundation, one in 10,000 men under age 40 will be diagnosed with prostate cancer. That figure skyrockets to one in 38 for men between the ages of 40 to 59, and one in 15 for men in their 60s.

Though age is perhaps the most significant risk factor, it's not the only thing that increases a man's risk for prostate cancer. In fact, there are a host of factors in addition to age that increase a man's risk for prostate cancer, which the Canadian Cancer Society says will claim the lives of more than 4,000 Canadian men this year.

One such risk factor is where a man lives. Men who live in rural China, for instance, have a relatively low risk of developing prostate cancer during their lifetime. That risk is only 2 percent if a man stays in rural China his entire life. But that risk increases significantly if a Chinese man moves to the West, where a man in the United States has a 17 percent chance of developing prostate cancer.

And not only does which country a man lives in play a role, but also the location of his home within that country's borders can elevate a man's risk for developing prostate cancer. Men who live in cities north of 40 degrees latitude (north of Philadelphia, PA, Columbus, OH, and Provo, UT) have the highest risk of dying from prostate cancer, and researchers feel this is because men who live in such cities get less sunlight during the winter months and therefore less vitamin D.

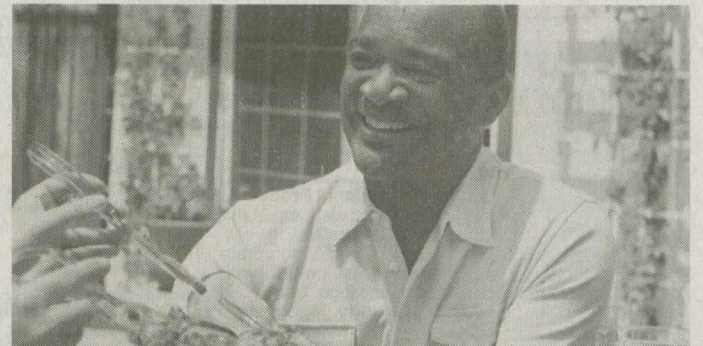

Race is another risk factor for prostate cancer. Asian men have the lowest risk of developing prostate cancer, while African-American men are 60 percent more likely to develop the disease than Caucasian men. The PCF notes that African-American men are also 2.5 times more likely to die from the disease, which highlights the importance that African-American men must place on screenings.

Family history also plays a role in a man's risk for developing prostate cancer. Men whose fathers or brothers have had prostate cancer are twice as likely to develop the disease. Their risk increases even more if their fathers or brothers were diagnosed with the cancer before reaching the age of 55 or if they had three or more family members who were diagnosed with prostate cancer.

Research into prostate cancer is ongoing and continues to unearth new information regarding this potentially deadly disease. The PCF notes, for instance, that the risk factors for aggressive version of this type of cancer can differ from the risk factors for slow-growing cancers. As a result, risk factors that were once not linked to prostate cancer are now being linked to aggressive forms of the disease. Smoking, for example, might be a risk factor for aggressive prostate cancer, as is a diet void of vegetables. Neither factor, however, is thought to increase a man's risk of slow-growing prostate cancer. Additional risk factors for aggressive prostate cancer include height (tall men might have an elevated risk) and living a sedentary lifestyle.

Many men are aware of the importance of prostate cancer screenings. However, few might know that certain factors significantly increase their risk for being diagnosed with this potentially deadly disease. More information about prostate cancer is available at www.pcf.org.

tion when desired. Opening number three is wide, arched, and offers easy access to the stairway, hallway, and great room. Another display niche nestles into an angled corner across the hall.

An expansive great room flows together with the spacious kitchen at the rear. Its long counter, rimmed by a raised eating bar, marks the boundary. Counters and cabinetry wrap around sections of four sides, and a roomy walk-in pantry is off the great room, just a few steps from the kitchen.

The great room is natu-

window at the far end, along with French doors and another wide window lining the back. A wood stove fills one corner. The French doors lead out onto a covered patio that spans the entire back.

Two bedrooms, a full bath-

Wisteria exudes Craftsman-bungalow charm

It's hard to overlook the Wisteria's Craftsman bungalow charm. You can't miss the symmetrically spaced, tapered porch columns, multipaned window uppers, wide eaves, and decorative gable supports. An old-fashioned, wooden porch swing would be right at home here.

When you step into the wide foyer, a display niche is directly ahead. On the left, the foyer expands out into a living room with a wide window and a gas fireplace. An arched opening there leads on into the dining room.

The dining room actually has openings on three sides, and a wide window on the fourth. The opening that links with the kitchen has a pocket door, which provides separa-
